

Administration Urges Okay of Antipoverty Bill

Senate Vote Due Today; Goldwater Attacks Measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration leaders drove for Senate passage of President Johnson's $962.5-million antipoverty bill today after accepting a state's rights amendment they hoped would pick up support from Southern Democrats.

The bill has come under heavy attack from Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, the Republican presidential nominee. He has called it a backward-looking hodgepodge with "the single objective of securing votes."

Goldwater was not on hand when the Senate opened debate on the bill Wednesday. The fight against it was led by Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., who had joined Goldwater earlier in denouncing the measure in a minority report from the Labor Committee.

The extent, if any, to which Goldwater was going to mix in the debate was uncertain. He was to return to the Senate chamber today for the first time since his nomination and his round of welcoming speeches. Under an agreement reached Wednesday to limit debate on the bill and its amendments, Democratic leaders expressed confidence the measure would be passed and sent to the House late in the day.

One move bolstering their hopes was the approval by voice vote of an amendment by Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., to prohibit the establishment of youth camps in any state without the consent of that state's governor.

A major feature of the legislation is authority to establish a job corps to provide education, work experience and vocational training for young people age 16 to 21, in conservation camps and residential centers.

An enrollment of 40,000 is planned for the first year with 100,000 the next.

Sen. Pat McNamara, D-Mich., floor manager of the bill, said he was willing with "some reluctance" to accept Smathers' amendment.

He also accepted an amendment by Sen. Winston L. Prouty, R-Vt., designed to bar politics from the job corps program. McNamara said he was sure the intent of Prouty's amendment would have been carried out anyway.

Besides the job corps, the measure would provide work-study programs for young people, adult education and training among a variety of community action projects, federal grants and loans to help impoverished rural families, aid for migrant farmworkers and special loans for small business.

Gaston DeCort, Basket Company Founder, Dies

Gaston J. DeCort, 82, of Damascus, died of complications at 2:15 a.m. today at his home following a long illness.

Born March 5, 1882, in Belgium, he was the son of Felix and Philomena Parree DeCort. In 1908, he married Josephine Van Beneden at Pittsburgh.

A Damascus resident since coming from Bristolville in 1929, he was founder of the DeCort Basket Manufacturing Co. and had been in business since 1918.

Surviving besides his wife are one daughter, Mrs. Zella D. Cobbs; one son, Joseph J. DeCort, both of Damascus; and five grandchildren.

He was the last of a family of five children.

Services will be at 2 p. m. Saturday at the Arbaugh-Pearce Funeral Home, with Dr. Paul Froman of the Damascus Methodist Church officiating. Burial will be in Damascus Cemetery.

Friends may call from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. Friday at the funeral home.

Dr. Sheppard Wins Legal Battle

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard has outlasted the prosecution in another legal battle to remain out of prison and it appears it could be weeks or even months before he learns his fate.

Sheppard won a new round Wednesday when a three-judge federal panel of the 6th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals held his $10,000 bond—and his freedom—were valid until the court could decide if the U.S. District Court order for his release would stand.

The court is not scheduled to meet again until October and there was no indication that earlier action would be possible.

Dr. Sam. central figure in one of the nation's most publicized murder cases, headed with his new wife to their Cleveland home to wait until the legal smoke cleared.

His attorney, F. Lee Bailey of Boston, said: "I don't think this case will ever be retried."

Sheppard, convicted of second-degree murder in the 1954 bludgeoning slaying of his pregnant wife, Marilyn, was freed from Ohio Penitentiary a week ago after U.S. Dist. Judge Carl Weinman of Dayton ruled he had not received a fair trial.

Presiding Judge Paul C. Weick of Akron said the appellate court would not void Judge Weinman's granting of bail but would modify it. He said the granting of bail was at the discretion of Judge Weinman.

Weick added that the panel would stay the habeas corpus writ until it could rule on the merits of it. He said the court would act "at an early date."

This amounted to freedom for Sheppard and threw the case into a new legal tangle that could reach the U.S. Supreme Court.

Sheppard and his bride of five days the former Ariane Tebbenjohanns, were married in Chicago last Saturday after federal marshals refused to arrest Sheppard in Columbus.

The court ruling tied the hands of the State of Ohio in the case.

Cuyahoga County Prosecutor John T. Corrigan said after the court's decision "we have no interest now in picking up Sheppard."

Rather, he said, the state will try to get the Weinman release order voided. The court ordered Sheppard to make a new bond within three days, this time under the jurisdiction of the court of appeals.

Bailey said this amounts to a technicality and that attorney Ben Clark of Columbus would take care of it. The amount of bond will remain at $10,000.

Police Wound Negroes During Manhattan Row

145 Stores Looted, Windows Smashed; 76 Are Arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Police shot and wounded four Negroes as racial rioting, looting and vandalism raged in Brooklyn through the night.

Police said the Negroes shot were accused of looting.

Several policemen were injured during the city's fifth straight night of racial violence.

Police counted 145 stores looted in the predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section of Brooklyn. Marauders smashed store windows and ran off with anything they could carry.

Crowds of Negroes, jeering and hurling missiles at police, surged through the streets Wednesday night.

Steel-helmeted police fired volley after volley over the heads of the roving bands to break up the disorder.

In Manhattan, 500 white teenagers pelted Negro demonstrators outside police headquarters. A police charge broke up the mob.

Harlem, however, was quiet—even quieter than on a normal summer Wednesday night, police said.

There were no riot arrests. No police shots were fired. No streets were sealed off in the nation's largest Negro community, where violence had flared for four nights in a row following the fatal shooting of a 15-year-old Negro boy by a white police lieutenant.

Seventy-six Negroes were arrested Wednesday night and early today in Brooklyn's predominantly Negro Bedford-Stuyvesant section. Charges included felonious assault, looting from stores whose windows were smashed, and disorderly conduct.

Many in the Brooklyn crowds headed for home or other shelter when rain started late in the night.

The Brooklyn violence erupted less than three hours after Mayor Robert F. Wagner made a television and radio appeal for peace and declared: "Law and order are the Negro's best friend. The opposite of law and order is mob rule, the way of the Ku Klux Klan and the lynch mob."

The Democratic mayor, who interrupted a trip to Europe and flew home Tuesday, announced a program to end racial violence and promised increased efforts to end slum conditions, to recruit more Negroes for the police force and to review charges of police brutality.

Wagner later told newsmen that there is some evidence of Communist instigation of the racial rioting.

THREE OF A KIND—Karen Beth, Kimberly Carol and Kelly Ann Culler, pictured above (l. to r.), who gained fame by being the first set of triplets born at Alliance City Hospital, will be one-year-old on Sunday. The girls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Culler of North Georgetown, are getting to the point where they keep their mother busy trying to keep up with them. They crawl fast and can walk when supported by a chair or some similar object. Mrs. Culler reports all three are in good physical health, including Karen who had a heart operation shortly after birth.

Quarantine On Cuba Expected

OAS Ministers To Vote Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—The inter-American foreign ministers conference headed for a final showdown today with a majority reportedly already decided to vote for a diplomatic and trade quarantine on Cuba.

All six foreign ministers who addressed the conference Wednesday supported Venezuela's demand for a stiff penalty on the Fidel Castro regime for subversion in Venezuela.

Mexico and Chile are expected to oppose the mandatory break in relations, but they are given little chance to change the indicated position of most of the conferees.

Brazil continued efforts to find a compromise solution to avoid a split with Mexico and Chile while satisfying most other member nations.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk asked the conference Wednesday to impose sanctions on Cuba, and urged a warning to the Castro regime that "the full weight of the regional security system will be applied" if it persists in subversion.

Rusk also called on the Free World countries to "take appropriate steps in the field of trade with Cuba." The United

Pidgeon Road, Washingtonville Bridge Work to Start on County Road Jobs

Work will start soon on two road projects in the Salem area, the Ohio Highway Department announced today after pre-construction conferences at the County Courthouse in Lisbon.

Division 11 at New Philadelphia reported construction of a 1.9 mile improvement to Pidgeon Road, south of Salem, will begin Aug. 3. Cost of the project will be $129,488.

Replacement of a bridge on Rt. 14-A at the east end of Washingtonville will begin in about two weeks. Contract price for the work is $69,507.

At the meeting held in the county commissioners' office among County Engineer Charles Snyder, State Highway Department officials and the contractor's representative, it was announced that staking of the project limits of the Pidgeon Road job is now being done by

Good Dog Mongrel Becomes Legend During Month Wait

PORT CLINTON, Ohio (AP)—Ginger, a lost mongrel with a lively distrust of any human being other than her own people, became something of a legend during the lonely month she spent in the marsh area waiting for the Harry Elkins family to come from Knoxville, Tenn., to get her.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cook did everything possible to try to befriend Ginger, who became separated from the Elkins family during a motor trip through northern Ohio June 22. The Cooks didn't know about the Elkins at first when they started putting out for the stray mongrel.

Ginger was hungry. She would come and eat the food, but when anyone approached, she streaked for the marshes.

The Cooks, who operate a market in the sand road area, even rigged a system to trickle water from their ice making machine into a pan to give Ginger fresh water at any time.

When the Port Clinton Daily News carried a story about the Knoxville family and their lost dog that looked like a fox, the Cooks contacted the Elkins. Renewed efforts were made to capture the stray to ship her to Knoxville, but Ginger eluded her would-be captors.

Finally, Mrs. Elkins and her son, Barry, 13, drove here Tuesday night. Ginger was nowhere to be found when the Elkins arrived, but Barry wanted to leave a sign. He took off his shirt and left it beside the dish of food the Cooks put out, hoping Ginger would recognize the scent and

Rights Ruling Appeal Planned

Federal Court Holds Bill Is Constitutional

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Owners of a restaurant and a motel are preparing to appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court the landmark decision by a three-judge federal court upholding constitutionality of the new Civil Rights Act.

"I think justice will prevail and we will be given a favorable verdict by the Supreme Court," said Lester Maddox, proprietor of the Pickrick Restaurant.

Moreton Rolleston Jr., head of the Heart of Atlanta Motel Corp., said he would abide by the order but would appeal immediately.

The men commented Wednesday shortly after the judges issued injunctions against their establishments in the first two court tests of the new law.

The effective date of the injunctions was delayed until Aug.

15 To Be Enrolled In Training Class For Nurses Aides

Fifteen persons will be enrolled in the first session of a training program for nurses aides, sponsored cooperatively by the Ohio State Employment Service and the Salem School of Technology and slated to begin Aug. 3 at Fourth St. School.

As many as six sessions of the program are planned, if the need arises, which would enable 90 persons to take advantage of the training opportunities, according to Arthur S. Johnston, local manager of the OSES.

The program, being offered under the Manpower Development and Training Act, will include four weeks of daytime training with 26 and one-half hours per week, for a total of 105 hours of training.

Applicants are furnished by the OSES to be trained through the Salem Board of Education adult education program. The trainees will then be placed in positions by the OSES.

Arthur Murray Ends Dance Studio Career

NEW YORK (AP)—Arthur Murray is stepping out of the dance studio business he started in the 1930s when he taught residents of Minneapolis to circle and say "oi" to the tune of the Lambeth Walk.

He said Wednesday that two franchises have purchased control of the cross-country chain, Arthur Murray Inc., for about $1 million. The new owners said they would retain Murray's name, though he said he wishes they wouldn't. Mrs. Murray will continue as an advisor.

Murray, 69, who had been president, said he plans to produce dramatic television shows, drawing upon experience he gained producing "The Arthur Murray Show" that featured his wife, Kathryn.

Murray started as a dance teacher in 1913. He was an assistant to Vernon Castle in New York and later was part of a dance-a-night, teach-during the-day team. "In 1936 or 1937," he said, "the Statler Hotel in Minneapolis wanted someone to teach guests the new dance craze, the Lambeth Walk. I started doing that and it caused such interest that I started others in other hotels."

The Lambeth Walk died out, but the bunny hop and other new dances kept the chain growing.

By 1948, there were some 500 franchised Murray studios across the country, grossing $40-$50 million. Murray said he sold out his ownership interests then for about $2 million. He has remained in a role of diminishing activity since.

The recent purchase, completed last week but not disclosed until today, was by Harry Evans of Houston, Tex., who owns 17 franchised studios, and James R. Banta, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., who owns about 21.

Local Workers Join Walkout

Strikers Picketing Ohio Edison Here

A picket line was set up today at the Ohio Edison Co. service building on S. Ellsworth Ave. as 65 local employees joined other members of the Utility Workers of America throughout the state in a strike against the company.

Deane E. Beck, manager of the Salem district, said the striking group comprises meter readers, linemen, truck drivers and other employees.

Supervisory personnel have taken over to provide uninterrupted service, Beck said.

The UWA called 1,475 members out on strike in the state Wednesday night and posted pickets in Youngstown and Lorain.

The strike, expected to extend today to Ohio Edison plants in Toronto and Shadyside on the Ohio River, followed unauthorized walkouts earlier Wednesday by UWA units in Medina, West Akron and Twinsburg.

In all communities affected, supervisory employees are maintaining service to customers.

The strike was called after the UWA's contract talks in Akron were broken off.

Another union, the 625-member International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, has been on strike against Ohio Edison since June 14 with a new contract at issue.

Four District Persons Hurt In Mishaps

A North Lima man was hospitalized with a broken arm and body and facial abrasions and three other persons were slightly injured in three traffic accidents on district highways Wednesday and today.

Ernest Kramer, 36, of North Lima is in fair condition at Youngstown South Side Hospital after a one-car mishap today at 1:15 a.m. on Route 7 at South Range Rd. just south of his village.

Injured in the same crash was Russell Kerr, 31, of Poland, riding in Kramer's car. He was treated for body bruises and lacerations and released.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol reported Kramer was heading north on Route 7 when his car went off the left side of the pavement and rolled over. He was cited for reckless operation.

Two Lisbon vehicles and one from West Virginia were involved in a mishap that injured Henry Osbie, 67, of Warren at 3:05 p.m. Wednesday on Route 45, a half-mile north of the county seat.

Osbie, a passenger in a car operated by William Curenton, 56, of Weirton, W. Va., was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital in Warren for whiplash and possible

Ex-Salem Grid Star Hurt In Crash

A former Salem football star lay unconscious for two hours in his overturned car Wednesday after it catapulted off a highway bridge and into a river near Scottville, Mich.

Marvin (Buster) Wukotich, 41, was rescued by state police who were summoned by the driver of an auto hauler.

State police said Wukotich's auto, a compact, went off the left side of Rt. 31 a 6:30 a.m., tore over several guard rails of the bridge and catapulted over the 20-25-foot wide Lincoln River bed.

Cpl. David Feldkamp of the Manistee state police post said Wukotich's car struck an abutment on the far side of the river, then fell back into the water.

"He would have drowned," Feldkamp said, "if it hadn't been that the river was pretty well dried up and the water, about eight or nine inches deep, reached just below his mouth."

Wukotich was taken to Pauline Stearns Hospital in nearby Ludington where he was reported in "serious but not critical condition." The hospital reported he suffered eight fractured ribs, a fractured wrist and shock.

The Salem man is employed as a property appraiser for the H. L. Yoh Co. of Cincinnati and was working in the Manistee area when the accident occurred.

He played fullback on Salem Quaker teams in 1939, 1940 and 1941.

His father, Michael, resides at 207 Jennings Ave.

Mrs. John Wagner wishes to thank friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses during her stay in the hospital.

Ranger 7 Shot Set for Monday

Space Glider Test
Termed Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—While experts assessed the results of a successful space glider test, another launch team today prepared the Ranger 7 spacecraft for a shot at the moon on Monday.

A delta-winged Project Asat craft survived a fiery 12,000-mile an hour ballistic flight from Cape Kennedy Wednesday in a test of materials for maneuverable manned vehicles of the future.

After the scorching 25-minute dive through the atmosphere, Asat parachuted into the Atlantic Ocean about 1,650 miles southeast of here and was kept afloat by inflatable bags.

Four paravers from the Air Rescue Service jumped into the sea and secured the craft for a recovery ship. Then they climbed into air-dropped life rafts and baby-sat with the payload for nearly 10 hours until the range vessel Coastal Sentry reached the scene.

The winged craft will be flown later this week to the McDonnell Aircraft Co., St. Louis, for study by the engineers who developed it.

Ranger 7 is intended to make a 68-hour, quarter-million-mile journey to the moon to snap several thousand closeup pictures for the Apollo man-to-the-moon project.

Officials hope Ranger 7 will provide the United States with its first moon launching success. This nation has tried and failed 12 times since 1953 to send unmanned spacecraft around, near or to the moon.

The president of the United States is addressed as Mr. President.

THE MAN FROM THE WEST (4)

As his father had before him, Barry Goldwater met his future wife in the family department store in Phoenix. He married the former Margaret Johnson on Sept. 22, 1934. They were to have four children—Joanne, Barry, Michael and Margaret.

Barry became president of Goldwater's, Inc., in 1937. That year he was the recipient of a U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce award.

Always an outdoorsman, Goldwater combined this interest with two others—Arizona history and Indian lore—in a spectacular way. In July 1940, with five other men and three women in three boats, he set off on a 700-mile-long trip down the Green and Colorado Rivers to Hoover Dam and became one of the first white men to negotiate the treacherous rapids of the Grand Canyon. He told about it in a book—"Journey Down the River of Canyons"—and in other writings. A year and a half later the nation was at war and he found himself involved in even more dangerous activities.

Attack on Barry No Precedent

Nikita Always Butting Into American Politics

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev doesn't seem to like American politicians, at least while they're running for office. Once they're elected, though, he sometimes gets all right with them, sometimes.

His attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater this week wasn't the first time he butted into American politics. He did the same in 1960 when he said the presidential candidates—John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon—looked equally undesirable. "They are a pair of boots," he said, meaning it was hard to tell them apart.

In Warsaw the Soviet Premier accused Goldwater, the Republican presidential candidate, of trying to "enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled Anti-Communism and war threats."

He likened last week's Republican convention which nominated Goldwater to a Nazi party rally.

In 1960 Khrushchev called Kennedy and Nixon "jackies of monopoly capital," trying to outdo each other in their anti-communism.

At that time he insisted he was impartial in his distaste for both men, didn't favor one over the other, but admitted he knew less about Kennedy than about Nixon, who had debated him in a Moscow kitchen.

After Kennedy became president, Khrushchev had his ups and downs with him, the ups when Kennedy didn't try to demolish the Berlin wall and the downs when Kennedy made him take his missiles out of Cuba.

After that, they seemed to get along fine, or as fine as could be expected, and even installed a "hot line" between the White House and the Kremlin so they could talk to each other in a hurry if there was an incident, accidental or otherwise, which might cause a nuclear war.

When Kennedy was assassinated last November, the Russian, in a note of regret to Mrs. Kennedy, said the president's death was a "hard blow to all people who cherish the cause of peace and Soviet-American cooperation."

Since neither Kennedy nor Nixon was in the White House before the 1960 election, Khrushchev may have felt free to talk about them—and for the same reason about Goldwater now—than he would about President Johnson who is in the White House and will be running for election.

Johnson and Khrushchev have had some dealings, apparently pleasant so far. They exchanged New Year's greetings. Khrushchev later said he thought Johnson a reasonable man who view that a nuclear war "makes no sense."

Khrushchev got along well with President Dwight D. Eisenhower, for a time. They had a summit meeting and Khrushchev even visited him at Camp David. But then an American U2 plane was shot down over the Soviet Union and they didn't get along well at all.

If Khrushchev had been born here he might have cut quite a figure in American politics. He's an international handshaker and even the way he criticizes his opponents has an American whiff.

Great Lakes Water Level Is Dropping

DETROIT (AP)—Great Lakes water levels, which already have seeped away from many docks and exposed thousands of acres of what used to be bottoms—are falling again or will be within the next month.

And the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers expects them to keep right on dropping for at least the next six months.

Lakes Michigan and Huron, joined by the straits of Mackinac, are expected to drop to an all-time low by the end of December, wiping out a law record set only last April.

Only Lake Superior is expected to remain anywhere near the average for the last 10 years or that prevailing from 1860 to 1963.

In addition, only Superior is expected to remain above the so-called "low water datum line," an elevation from which channel depths normally are gauged. Every inch of depth lost below that line represents scores of tons lost in freighter

2 Members Initiated By Leetonia Lodge

By MRS. HOMER KRIDLER
LEETONIA — The Rebekah degree was conferred on two new members in a formal ceremony when D. Wallace Rebekah Lodg held its regular meeting Tuesday.

Twenty-six members and three visitors were present when Mrs. William Floding, degree captain, conducted the initiation. Mrs. Iona Wisler, district deputy president, and Mrs. Irene Hum, district representative, were honored guests.

Mrs. Edward Gotthardt, Jr. and Mrs. George Wire served lunch during the social hour which followed the meeting.

Next regular meeting will be at 8 p.m. Aug. 4 at the lodge hall.

WOMAN'S SOCIETY of Christian Service will hold a regular meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the Methodist Church social room.

Program leader will be Mrs. Harold Cleckner. Special guests will be the young members of the church who are attending Camp Aldersgate this week.

Hostesses will be Mrs. John Thompson, Mrs. Russell Sinsley, Mr. Will Burges and Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton.

The "Uncalled Four," a vocal and instrumental group from Columbiana, will play tonight when the Ruritan Club holds its weekly dance at Orchard Hill School. All proceeds will go into the scholarship fund. The public is invited to attend.

Young people attending Methodist Junior High camp at Aldersgate in Leesville this week are Cindy McElroy, Sherry Hollenshead, Ricky Shiver, Nancy Tharp, Vicki Vestal and James Forney. Rev. and Mrs. Albert Oakes are serving as deans at the camp this week.

MR. AND MRS. RAYMOND Jacobs of Loudonville visited with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vestal of Ridge St. Carla Vestal, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Vestal of Columbiana, has been visiting her grandparents for a few days.

Mrs. George Sines has returned home from Beverly Hills, Calif., after a visit with her son, Dr. and Mrs. George Sines, Jr. and their children, Laura, Jeremy and Steven.

James Scanlon family of Middleton, N. Y., visited friends here Wednesday. Scanlon is former elementary school supervisor here.

Mellinger Men's Bible Class members will be guests when the Service Men's class met at Arthur Whan's "Little Ranch" lake at 8 a.m. Sunday for breakfast and lesson study.

ASHTABULA Ohio (AP) — A poison antidote was rushed here by State Highway Patrol relay Wednesday night from Cleveland for a 16-year-old boy who ate an apple contaminated with insecticide.

The boy, Norman Jepson of Ashtabula, had been spraying fruit in an orchard near here when he ate the apple after rubbing it on his trousers which had absorbed the poison. Dr. S. A. Burrows asked Highway Patrol assistance and an antidote, proton, got to Ashtabula General Hospital from Cleveland's Metropolitan General Hospital two hours and 40 minutes later.

Khrushchev's Political Game

In sharp contrast to the days and weeks of piling candidates and conducting a campaign in the United States, the Soviet Union, last week got a new president in three minutes. He is Anastas Mikoyan.

Leonard I. Brezhnev, who relinquished the presidency, is regarded as the man most likely to succeed Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Khrushchev is 70 years old. The present shift could give Mr. Brezhnev more time to concentrate on Communist party duties in preparation for his role as premier.

However, several previous Soviet leaders seemingly being groomed for the premiership have been hit by "misfortunes" of one sort or another. Even should Mr. Brezhnev inherit the Soviet throne, it does not necessarily mean he will hold it long.

ANOTHER struggle for power, such as Mr. Khrushchev waged and won is not unlikely, once Mr. Khrushchev is removed from the scene. Must will depend on the skill with which Mr. Brezhnev jousts with would-be rivals.

Another aspect of the Soviet personnel shift, pointed out editorially in the New York Times is that: "Mr. Mikoyan has been identified for almost four decades with the Soviet consumer goods industries. His reputation is that of a man particularly interested in raising Soviet living standards. His elevation to what is ceremonially the highest ranking Soviet office may be a sign of the new importance now being given in Moscow to improving living standards."

The Times finds this interpretation supported by the attention given by the Supreme Soviet to raising minimum wages for the poorest paid Soviet workers, to increasing salaries for almost 20,000,000 teachers, doctors, clerks and other non-factory workers and introducing pensions for aged collective farmers.

PREMIER KHRUSHCHEV and the Soviet people are well-aware that these benefits are far short of the gains promised for this time by the current Soviet seven-year plan.

It well might be that Mr. Khrushchev is looking for a scapegoat for his own shortcomings on promises and wants to continue living the seemingly charmed personal and political life that has been the hallmark of his career.

Getting Down to Cases

Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace did not say when he folded up his presidential candidacy that his followers should switch to Barry M. Goldwater.

He didn't need to say so. How else could they show their dissatisfaction with Kennedy-Johnson policy?

In less than a week after his nomination to be Republican candidate for president, Sen. Goldwater is being brought down to cases on the reshuffling of the Republican party that all observers agree will happen under his leadership.

One of his reshuffling problems — perhaps his worst one — will be people who identify themselves with his candidacy for their own reasons. It is a matter of record through his own statements that he will go after Southern electoral votes, because he believes he can break up the one-party system in the once-Solid South. But overt alliance with symbolic Southern red-hots like Alabama Gov. Wallace will be acutely embarrassing to most of Sen. Goldwater's Northern followers.

Politics makes strange bedfellows — granted.

In the Democratic party, it long has paired up Northern liberals and Southern irreconcilables. But all were members of the same political family. It is something else again, for Republicans to contemplate bedfellowship with Democratic extremists in the irreconcilable areas of the Solid South.

Northern Republicans, contemplating the prospect of alliance with Gov. Wallace and his diehard Southern associates before the 1964 campaign is over, cannot be happy. Their will to win languishes at the thought.

A young married couple can buy a million dollars' worth of pleasure with a five-cent stamp if it's put on a letter to the folks back home.

If you want to be the goat of an argument just butt in on one between two other people.

The Real Thing

By Truman Twill

Finally each summer there come "summer days" like the ones we remember. This is noteworthy. The seasons are fickle. Spring is never the way we remember it. Autumn is wetter or drier, hotter or colder. Winter is snowier or not so snowy.

But "summer days" run true to form. They follow the pattern. They're like they used to be.

The early morning mist still hangs in the lowlands, like a gossamer curtain drawn over the face of the dawn.

Dogs still dig shallow pits under low-hanging bushes and spend the heat of the days absorbing the coolness of the shaded earth.

The sound of a piano lesson being practiced cuts through the stillness of a tree-lined residential street with the same ear-rasping clarity that made it distinctive before television and radio began to compete for attention.

A BOY'S TENT pitched on the back of a lot still represents the ultimate after dark adventure when it contains the sleeping bodies of two hardy frontiersmen, age 11.

The sleepy-creepy sounds of night-time are the same on a patio as they used to be on front porches. Only one thing is missing—the creaking of the chains holding swings suspended from the porch ceiling.

Uniform ice cubes make the same musical tinkle in a glass pitcher of cold lemonade that was familiar early in the century when ice came in chunks and diggers picked off a 50-pound cake in the top of the ice box.

There are more shower baths than there used to be, but the refreshment of a good cleansing in hot water after a hard day's work is the same as it was when all shower baths were jury-rigged contraptions in standard bathtubs.

The noonday sun is just as blazing, the humidity just as stifling and the sound of a thunderstorm rumbling part of the western sky just as ominous.

Likewise unchanged is the song of robins "hollering for rain" and their peacocks of gratitude afterward when the earth has been refreshed and the air is cool and fragrant.

BASEMENTS still exude a musty-dusty fragrance in midsummer and the attics of old houses are still redolent of pine, honey and the gentle decay of the miscellany stored therein.

The night sky is still a canopy of blue-black velvet slashed to admit pinpoints of starlight.

A handful of wet leaves in the crown of a hat can still ameliorate the scorching rays of the sun, and a dipperful of cold water can still be the most delicious nectar that ever passed the lips of man.

They've given us air conditioning, automation, numbers, electric fans, bug spray, a day off, salt pills, automatic refrigeration and airy clothing. But somewhere someone is still turning the crank on an ice cream freezer on a back porch, or taking his ease in a porch rocker and flapping flies with a palm-leaf fan.

This is the good old summertime, the real thing. They can't take this away from us—ever.

Brothers Under The Skin

Tragic Shame

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Race rioting and violence in the Harlem section of New York City — the biggest Negro community in the country — have occasioned nationwide dismay and a sense of tragic shame before the world.

For a long time people in the North have been pointing the finger of blame at the citizens of Mississippi and Alabama and there has been many a comment that such disturbances present an unfavorable image abroad. Now, unfortunately, Northern states have experienced some serious outbreaks, too.

Coincidentally, the crime wave in the United States has been growing to unprecedented proportions, especially among the young people. Racial conflict, of course, affords an opportunity for irresponsible individuals to participate in any form of disorder.

Today's disturbances are, in large part, due to the encouragement given in recent months in street demonstrations.

There are many people who do not understand that, while the right of free speech is guaranteed, it does not permit anybody falsely to cry "fire!" in a crowded theater or to encourage mob violence while professing adherence to the doctrine of non-violence. Even clergymen have been guilty of endorsing what is called "civil disobedience."

The sensible leaders of the Negro organizations today are trying hard to control their members so as to keep down demonstrations that could lead to violence, but unfortunately there now is a race consciousness in the United States on the part of both whites and Negroes.

IT'S THE IMPULSIVE and impetuous handling of the whole civil rights issue that is in part responsible for the tension that exists.

Perhaps the most difficult phase of the whole problem is the situation which confronts the local police. If they do not arrest the demonstrators, lots of innocent persons are injured.

On the other hand, if the police try to use force to deal with those who are threatening violence, these same law officers are accused of brutality.

Within the last few years, an impression has been conveyed that the federal government must intervene to maintain law and order, especially when the states or cities seem reluctant to do so for fear of intensifying local feeling.

President Eisenhower sent troops to Arkansas in 1957 presumably to enforce a court order and also to prevent an outbreak of violence.

The late President Kennedy mobilized federal troops in Mississippi in 1962 and in Alabama in 1963 because of a fear that violence might break out.

IN ALL THREE cases the state governments had plenty of militia of their own available to take care of the respective situations. President Johnson thus far has taken only one action on the Harlem riots — an order to the FBI to investigate whether any federal laws have been broken.

There have been many instances in the past in which state militia have been used to supplement local police. The governor of the State of New York has certain responsibilities in the event that violence breaks out again in New York City and the police are unable to control it. Negro organizations have this week petitioned the governor to send troops to the metropolis.

There are plenty of laws and state and local — to maintain order in America. The handicaps to effective enforcement today, however, are many.

The federal judiciary, under the direction of the Supreme Court of the United States, has made it difficult to detect and punish offenders. Technicalities have been allowed to intervene with the operations of the police in interrogating persons accused of crime.

PRESIDENT JOHNSON and Sen. Goldwater have both indicated that during the campaign they would like to play down racial issues but much of the damage has already been done.

Passions have been inflamed and there have been charges and countercharges that this or that group is responsible for inciting violence.

Irrespective of what may have been said or done in the past, the problem now is how to secure observance of law and maintenance of order in the big cities of the North as well as in the South.

More and more police are going to be necessary and while it may seem ironical even to imply that color lines should be drawn, many cities are discovering that only by the employment of numerous Negro policemen to go on constant duty in Negro sections of the big cities can the riots be controlled and further violence prevented.

It's a sad story of racial consciousness that now has broken out in the open despite all the sincere efforts of many persons on both sides to debate the issue on its merits in the hope that reason and volition may be substituted for coercion.

Intellectuals In Senegal

By VICTOR RIESEL

THIES, SENEGAL. This is being written in a leper village a few miles from the expensive French dominated city of Thies. I've made several swing through endless miles of peanut growing desert where monkeys gambol and Mauritanian traders still lurch over the roads by camel. I've talked with bush people in their thatched huts and in groupings of huts called "carres" (compounds surrounded by high grass fences).

Victor Riesel

President Senghor finds it difficult to deal with the newcomers to government because he is a Catholic while the vast majority are of such religious groups as the 1.5 million Tidjanes and the 600,000 Mourides. They are led by powerful Marabouts, Moslem ecclesiastical power.

Nor is the "defense department" aggressive. It is satisfied with an air force of eight planes, three helicopters; a navy of two ships, and an army of four battalions totaling 3,500 men.

It's the new officialdom, the new intellectuals who push. They cling to the big cities, as our Peace Corps does in this leper village where I now sit.

THEY DON'T go out into the fishing villages such as Kayar, where men go out to sea in pirogues as they have for a thousand years. The intellectual refuses to learn the business of fishing, refrigeration and distribution. Nor does he go into the bush to teach agriculture and cattle raising.

I visited one village and found three good pieces of agricultural equipment standing idle because nobody cared to get a few spare parts.

The young men, after they are trained and educated, don't go out to southern areas where there still is a king who wears a camel's hair coat as a status symbol; and a queen whose regal dress is an old house coat.

The intellectual does not learn how to raise rice in the south, leaving this to 10 Chinese farmers who came here all the way from Formosa. The Chinese can teach the Senegalese, because our Peace Corps youths teach the Chinese French so they can communicate.

The intellectuals don't go into the bush to teach their own people to wipe out an actual slave system and so provide a motivation for tens of thousands of indigent people.

The intellectual apparently is satisfied to have the country rest on a peanut crop economy which the French subsidize with millions each year. When the French tire of this, what then? Freedom is expensive. One must work hard for it.

The Campaigners

By DOUGLAS KIKER

Both are products of the American Southwest. Both are highly ambitious, highly skilled politicians. And both want the same job.

But there the comparison ends abruptly.

Lyndon Baines Johnson and Barry Morris Goldwater simply are two different breeds of men and the presidential campaigns they will conduct this fall inevitably will reflect this fact.

The senator will campaign as a Jeremiah, come to recite harshly the ills of the nation and call on it to mend its liberal ways.

The President will campaign as a kindly, capable uncle come to help the nation through trying days, to reassure it that all is really well and that things will be better from now on, not worse.

Lyndon Johnson lives and breathes politics, and the fact that people rush up to him to shake his hand, to wish him luck fills him with great excitement and satisfaction. He will campaign in the streets of America this fall, as well as over television and radio, and before huge audiences.

Barry Goldwater, walking down a city street, smiling, waving at well-wishers, is an attractive sight. But he gets no thrill out of this sort of campaigning. He will have to do it, and often, before November rolls around. But it is not something he will enjoy. It is not that he doesn't like people; it's that he does not thrill to mass politics.

By every evidence, the senator is going to conduct a tough campaign against the President. He is going to be a man on the attack.

Mr. Johnson's strategy will be to ignore him and by this pointed action try to suggest to the American people that, after all, he's too busy running the country to waste time listening to this nonsense.

The senator's campaign will be that of a man for the republic. The President will be a man for the people.

Sen. Goldwater is going to lecture. President Johnson is going to cajole.

The senator's candidacy is bound to be an enormously controversial one — so much so that perhaps the great debate the American people have been promised will be greatly obscured.

Under constant Republican attack, the President's campaign will consist of silence under pressure.

Will the senator move toward the political middle-ground as time goes on? No one who heard his acceptance speech as the Cow Palace can believe that it will.

Will the President, seemingly assured of liberal support, move to the middle to join him? He may feint to the right. But with the racial backlash vote a factor to worry about, he also knows that he must offer white big-city Democrats a powerful alternative to their possible prejudice. And so ultimately, he will run for re-election in the classical way Democrats do, by going for the East, by going for the cities.

The problems both face are simply stated. Mr. Johnson must retain the current support he enjoys. Mr. Goldwater must cut into it.

Mr. Johnson's ambition is to carry all 50 states; that would be the greatest joy of his life. Mr. Goldwater's challenge is to put together a most tenuous coalition — just to win by whatever small margin. Mr. Johnson's problem is to prevent voters from pitying Mr. Goldwater because he is an underdog. Mr. Goldwater's problem is to convince them that Mr. Johnson really is what he says he is.

Back Through the Years

(From The News Files)

10 YEARS AGO — Salem voters' approval of a $450,000 bond issue to finance general improvements to the municipal sewage disposal plant will be sought at the Nov. 2 election, City Council decided Friday night.

25 YEARS AGO — Trades School classes will resume again Aug. 5 at the High School, officials announced today.

Daniel W. Webster of 437 Sharp St. today was named to the position of deputy auto registrar in the office of County Auditor Ross Tisher at Lisbon.

35 YEARS AGO — City Auditor Miss Helen Woerther returned to her home today after a visit in Pittsburgh.

Dr. Percy H. Gordon, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, leaves Monday for vacation and to join his family at their summer home in West Brooksville, Maine.

Today In History

Today in Thursday, July 23, the 205th day of 1964. There are 161 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1847, a band of Mormons led by Brigham Young halted at the Great Salt Lake valley around Broad, Salt Lake in Utah after a winter of bitter hardship crossing the country.

On this date: In 1889 John L. Sullivan beat Jake Kilrain at Richburg, Miss., in a 75-round bare-knuckle fight for the world's heavyweight championship.

In 1945, Marshal Henri Petain went on trial as a traitor to France.

Mr. Johnson's ambition is to carry all 50 states; that would be the greatest joy of his life. Mr. Goldwater's challenge is to put together a most tenuous coalition — just to win by whatever small margin.

Mr. Johnson's problem is to prevent voters from pitying Mr. Goldwater because he is an underdog. Mr. Goldwater's problem is to convince them that Mr. Johnson really is what he says he is.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 20-year-old blonde who is all mixed up. My dad is a golf pro. I've been playing golf since I was 6.

I shoot a pretty spectacular game, which is part of my problem. I can cream all the fellows in our crowd — including my steady guy.

Howie hates it when I beat him but I can't do less than my best when I get on the course. I beat Howie at tennis, too, which is rather embarrassing, as he considers himself an expert and has taken lessons for years.

I'd like to marry Howie but he becomes so sullen and uncommunicative when he loses to me I wonder if we could have a good life together.

The guy has dozens of marvelous qualities and I'd hate to break up with him because of this one fault. What do you say: — THREE UNDER PAR.

Dear Three: Play doubles with Howie as your partner and make him look good instead of beating his brains out. No more head-on competition. When you win, you lose.

Remorseful Mother

Dear Ann: You often have stated that parents should not open their children's mail, read their diaries, go through their bureau drawers or listen to their telephone calls.

This is all high-sounding indeed, but if I hadn't been such a blind fool, my 16-year-old daughter would not be in a home for unwed mothers at this very minute.

I had no idea she was sneaking around behind my back, crawling out the bedroom window, meeting a good-for-nothing bum — and in her pajamas at that. When she told me she was pregnant, I fainted. This girl was the last in the world anyone would have suspected of such behavior.

So please stop giving parents such stupid advice. Urge them to keep a close watch on their teen-agers, read their diaries, listen to their phone calls and see if they go where they say they are going.

Check, Check, Check. If I'd been smarter about these things I could have prevented my daughter from wrecking her life. — L. L. L.

Dear L. L. L.: Your daughter's predicament is a symptom of earlier emotional problems. If there had been genuine communication, you would not have discovered "suddenly" what she was really doing.

No parent ever kept a child on the right road by spying, checking or eavesdropping. Gestapo tactics destroy confidence.

If a child feels his parents have a low opinion of him he will do his best to live down to it.

Elevator Etiquette

Dear Ann: I'm a young woman who works in a building which has an elevator. I'm in and out of the elevator at least 15 times a day because part of my job is delivering dental material from the lab.

Is it considered poor manners for a man to get out of an elevator first when there are women behind him? Often I've been in the rear of the elevator and the men in front of me just stand there instead of getting out first.

Even when I say, "Excuse me, please," they still stand there — feet nailed to the floor. They apparently feel it is rude to walk out ahead of a woman. How about this? — DIXIE.

Dear Dixie: It is NOT impolite for a man to precede a woman out of an elevator. In fact, it makes no sense for a man to obstruct the doorway, waiting for a woman to make her way around him.

Good manners are common sense. The people by the door should walk out first — male or female.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Linda Criss Becomes Bride of James Overly

Principals in a wedding Saturday in the First Church of the Brethren at Alliance were Miss Linda Kay Criss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arthur Criss of Beloit, and James Shaffer Overly Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Overly of New Milford, who were married on the bride's parents' 28th wedding anniversary.

Rev. Richard C. Overly, uncle of the bridegroom, officiated at the 2:30 p.m. double ring ceremony. Mrs. Leo Stuckey played traditional wedding melodies, and soloist was Mrs. Frank Kurtz.

Escorted by her father to an altar graced by vases of white gladioli with a background of palms and fernery, the bride wore a gown of white silk taffeta with scooped neckline, long sleeves and full bouffant skirt. The front of the fitted bodice and skirt were embellished with Swedish embroidery. A petal cap of taffeta held her shoulder-length bouffant veil, and she carried a white Bible arrangement of light blue and white carnations and stephanotis.

Maid of honor for the bride was Karen Russell. Cheryl Russell and Suzanne Criss were bridesmaids. They wore light blue chiffon street-length dresses complemented with white pill box hats and colonial bouquets of carnations.

Ushering were Leo Stuckey, Frank Kurtz and Daryl Overly, cousin of the bridegroom.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Criss wore a teal blue printed dress, and the mother of the bridegroom a pink sleeveless shirtwaist dress. Both had white carnation corsages.

Two hundred guests attended the reception in the church fellowship hall following the ceremony and were registered by Miss Linda Dorsey.

From the reception the couple left for a honeymoon to Fisher, Ill., where they will reside until Sept. 1, when the new Mrs. Overly will return to her parents' home where she will reside while completing her senior year at West Branch High School.

Mr. Overly will complete a tour of duty with the Air Force in 1965. He is a graduate of Rootstown High School.

Lisbon Church Makes Homecoming Plans

The Trinity Friends Church of RD 1, Lisbon, has completed plans for its 154th homecoming celebration to be held Sunday.

The Rev. Charles Matti, retired missionary to China and Formosa will be the guest speaker at the morning worship service at 11. The Rev. Mark Headland is pastor.

A basket picnic dinner will be served on the lawn of the church at 12:15.

At 2:30 p.m., there will be a musical program presented by Heights, Cleveland; the Melodyaires and the Rhythmetes of Alliance. At 7:30 p.m., group singing of favorite hymns is scheduled and a gospel film will be shown.

Originally the Trinity Church was affiliated with the Lutheran denomination and later changed to a reformed church. In 1928 the church closed until 1933, when it opened as an interdenominational church. In 1952, the congregation joined the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends.

Hints From

Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: I use my ironing board as a sprinkling table by putting an old plastic tablecloth on it to protect the cover. Then just sprinkle away.

MRS. B.L.W. And we already have the ironing board R-E-A-D-Y???

HELOISE DEAR HELOISE: Baby bottle brushes that have broken handles or are not in use any more, are wonderful for cleaning a parakeet's water container.

The containers are so small that I could find nothing to fit into them until I thought of this. Now I have a bottle brush for baby's bottles and one for the bird.

MOMMY OF TWO BOYS AND ONE PARAKEET.

DEAR HELOISE: When I bake a cake and find that the layers have risen to a hump in the middle, here's what I do:

For the layer that I choose to go on the bottom, I slice off the "mound" so the cake will be flat and the top layer won't crack! Then I take a little extra icing and ice this mound on a small plate.

My children like their own little cake and I like to see how perfectly the big cake layers fit, too.

C.A.

DEAR HELOISE: It was with great interest that I read in your column about making bibs for babies from fingertip-towels.

May I add to the suggestion? My mother had been using these bibs for visiting grandchildren. When the new grandchild arrived, she discovered they were fine for him, too. She would put a bib on the baby before she gave him his bottle... than lift the bib and lay it over her shoulder (while the bib was still on the baby) as she burped him!

That way both of them were protected!

MRS. J.A.F. Please tell your mother we all love her dearly.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: The letter from the bachelor, laughing at the thought of cleaning an oven because no one ever sees it, started me wondering if there are others who also believe this!

The reason an oven is kept clean is not for show but to prevent fires.

Just this past year, grease dripped over onto the bottom of our oven (from an oversized turkey in too small a pan) and caught fire.

This is a most frightening experience and once remembered makes it a must to keep that oven clean, for it can happen with old grease, too!

SHIRLEY VACHA.

DEAR HELOISE: Here is a suggestion:

When using a white bedspread on top of a colored blanket... first put a white sheet on top of the colored blanket, then the bedspread on top of the sheet.

It makes the spread look much whiter.

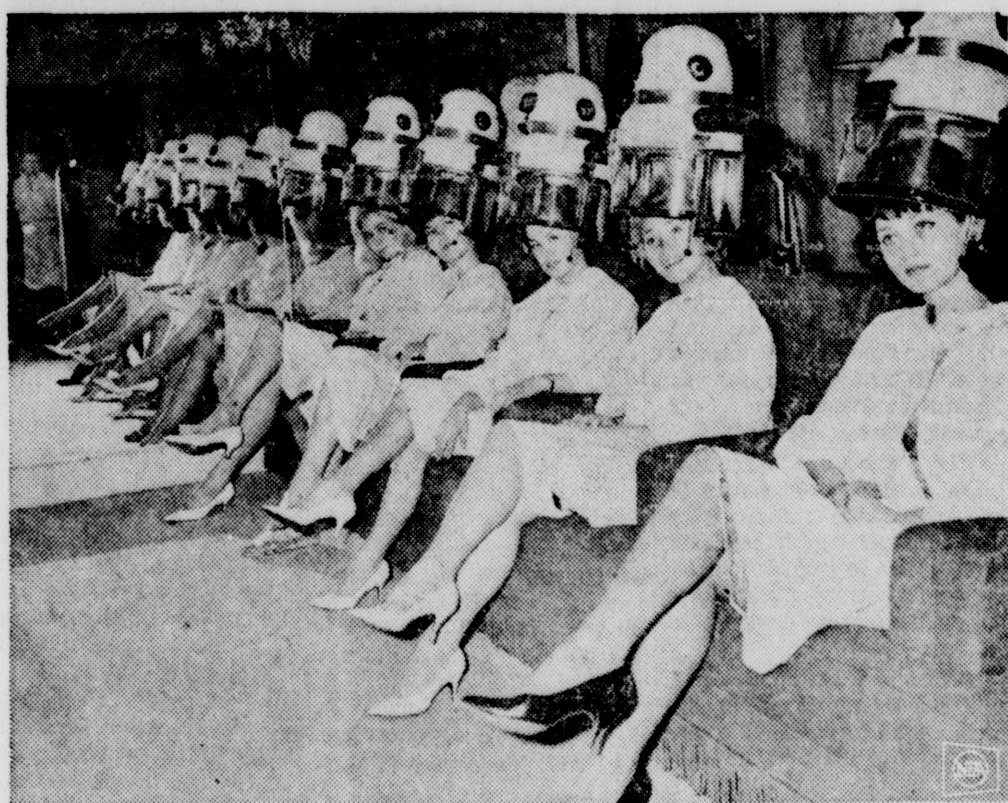

MRS. H.S.

DEAR HELOISE: Here's another hint for your nylon net...

After sanding down wood, wipe the wood with a handful of net. The sanding dust disappears from the wood, clings to the net and can be shaken or rinsed away.

SANDY.

DROWNS IN LAKE ERIE CLEVELAND (AP) — The Coast Guard searched Lake Erie at Edgewater Park early today for the body of Henry Long, about 26, of Cleveland. Isaiah Gilbert, 40, said he swam to Long and tried to save him but was pulled under the surface twice and lost his hold on the struggling Long.

One of Top Campaign Issues

Foreign Policy Issue Debate Stirring Reaction Abroad

EDITOR'S NOTE—The Republican nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater has been sharply criticized by many newspapers in allied European countries, and now by Soviet Premier Khrushchev—in a manner that for a diplomat would be improper interference in internal affairs. Is it proper? What is its aim? John M. Hightower, AP diplomatic affairs writer, provides some answers.

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sharp debate over U.S. foreign policy which is developing in this year's presidential election campaign seems likely to excite more reaction in foreign countries than any American political dispute since the end of World War II.

Much of the European press has already expressed bitter criticism of the nomination of Sen. Barry Goldwater, assailing him as the leader of those who would change fundamental U.S. positions in world affairs.

Soviet Premier Khrushchev raised the operation to the summit level this week by denouncing both the Republican nominee and the platform on which he is running.

This kind of action by a foreign official is traditionally classified in diplomacy as interference in the internal affairs of the United States, and the diplomat who tried it would quickly find himself in serious trouble.

In 1888 British Ambassador Lionel Sackville-West was sent home for taking sides in the contest between Grover Cleveland and Benjamin Harrison, and his fate is well remembered in the Washington diplomatic corps to this day.

But the rules that silence ambassadors do not operate for presidents and premiers, speaking from distant capitals.

Khrushchev told a Polish audience that the candidate put forward by the Republican party "made it clear that he wants to enter the White House under the slogans of unbridled anti-communism and war threats."

He also asserted that the Republican platform, which he denounced as warlike, had been adopted "in an atmosphere reminiscent of the fascist gatherings in Nuremberg."

The big question raised among U.S. foreign policy officials who are always concerned with the aim of Khrushchev's maneuvers, is what he hopes to accomplish by an attack at this time.

Khrushchev has interfered in U.S. presidential politics before. In 1960 he spoke out against Republican nominee Richard M. Nixon. At that time Khrushchev had broken off friendly personal relations with President Dwight D. Eisenhower over the U2 plane incident, and he expressed his antagonism toward Nixon by identifying him with Eisenhower.

Diplomats here believe the present campaign debate on foreign policy probably will be more far reaching and involve more fundamental issues than any in the past 20 years.

Where the Communist problem is concerned, for example, the Johnson administration has been following a policy of trying to treat different Communist countries differently according to their willingness to make practical agreements with the United States. In the Kennedy Johnson administration the outstanding example of this policy is the limited nuclear test-ban treaty signed with the Soviet Union last summer.

The unicameral legislature was introduced in Nebraska in 1937.

Columbiana Rotary Hears Economy Talk

COLUMBIANA — Richard Holt of the Republic Steel Co. explained the transition of the European economic community, better known as the Common Market, when the Rotary Club met Monday.

Holt described the development from the disorganized, war-torn and devastated group of nations in 1947, to a closely-knit, economically independent force in the world market, with a gross national production of $300 billion dollars.

The common market today, Holt said, is prime competition for world trade and has replaced the United States as a supplier of strategic materials in many of the world markets.

Next week, Fred Dewiler will present the new Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company film entitled, "Search," which describes and explains some of the procedures involved in the new research laboratories recently put into operation.

Robert Gavin was welcomed as a new member of the club. Michael Infante, Fred Faiver and Jeff Zieard of Girard and Ernest Mitchell and Charles Seccati of Struthers.

House Committee To Act Today on Appalachia Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee prepared to act today on President Johnson's Appalachia program in the wake of a Republican charge the $1 billion measure is being railroaded for House passage on orders from the White House.

A House public works subcommittee scheduled a final closed door meeting on the revised bill for 9:30 a.m. It was to be followed an hour later by a meeting of the full Public Works Committee.

The subcommittee began Wednesday putting the finishing touches on the $1,077,200,000 program to aid West Virginia and parts of 10 other states which the administration says are economically hard hit. They are Alabama, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, North Carolina, South Carolina, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Tennessee and Virginia.

The subcommittee timetable—which called for approval of the bill Wednesday—was sidetracked by Republicans who lost all attempts to amend it on straight party line votes.

Republicans say the need for the program has not yet been proved.

Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., a subcommittee member, charged after Wednesday's meeting that what he called the steam behind the railroadings is being generated by the White House to win Democratic votes in November.

Noting that the revised bill, introduced last Monday, would define six counties in South Carolina as part of Appalachia, Cramer remarked: "It looks to me like they're trying to buy votes."

No South Carolina counties were included in the original bill introduced last spring. The revised bill also would add nine new counties in Kentucky and Ohio. Mentioned as the new Ohio counties were Harrison, Jefferson, Muskingum and Perry.

Civil Service Clerk Is 92

Roy Harris, City's Oldest Employee, Marks Birthday

By PEARL WALKER

Roy Wells Harris, retired printer and clerk of the Civil Service Commission since 1918, is observing his 92nd birthday anniversary today.

The oldest person in the city's employ, Harris still enjoys good health.

There has been a printer in the Harris family since 1846. In that year, Roy's father, Jesse Harris, went to the office of the Anti-Slavery Bugle and told the proprietor, John Hudson, "I want to be a printer." Hudson invited him to come for a "try-out," thus, Jesse became one of Salem's pioneer printers.

The Harris family came to Salem from Adams County, Pa., and John Harris, one of Roy's ancestors laid out the city of Harrisburg, in 1785.

Following in the footsteps of his father, Roy started to learn his trade with Harris & Company in 1886. By March of 1906, the year of Salem's centennial celebration, he had established his own printing business in the Anderson block, N. Ellsworth Ave., and W. State St. Later he moved to the family's present place of business, N. Lincoln Ave., and E. 2nd St., which he operated for many years.

In 1937, Harris' son, Nathan, became affiliated with his father in this business, making the third generation printer.

When Roy retired in 1957, he was the oldest Salem man operating his own business.

Through the years, Harris has taken an interest in church and civic affairs. He was instigator of the Salem Historical Society, Inc., which was formed July 29, 1947. The society's first president, he served until March 9, 1953.

On Christmas eve, 1898, he married the late Elizabeth Wilson Harris. A Salem school teacher, Mrs. Harris published a brief history of Salem a few years ago. Roy is a member of the Methodist Church. His son, James, is a teacher in the Dayton school system. There are three grandchildren.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Harris' birthday was on July 23. This would have been her 90th birthday.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Fronius Funeral

Services for Mrs. Marie Edle Fronius, 76, of Corbett Ave., Detroit, Mich., who died of a heart attack Tuesday, will be Saturday at 1 p.m. at the Emmanuel Lutheran Church where the body will lie in state for one hour before the service. Roger Schmalz, student assistant minister, will officiate. Burial will be in Grandview Cemetery.

Mrs. Fronius was born in Transylvania March 15, 1888, the daughter of Stephen and Katharine Hermann Drasser, and resided in Salem 40 years before going to Detroit five years ago. She was a member of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church and Saxon Ladies Lodge Branch 18.

Survivors are her husband, Rudolph; two daughters, Mrs. Marie Klien of Two Rivers, Wis., and Mrs. Katherine Hartig of Detroit; five grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. A daughter, Minnie, preceded her in death.

Friends may call Friday evening at the Stark Memorial.

Rights

11 to allow time for appeals. Rolleston filed suit against the government to block enforcement of the law within two hours after it was signed on July 2 by President Johnson.

Maddox was sued by three Negroes he chased from his restaurant at gunpoint on July 3. The Negroes later were joined by the Justice Department.

Both suits questioned the constitutionality of the public accommodations sections of the law.

Basic arguments in each case hinged on whether Congress had constitutional authority to enact the law. The court disposed of this issue before ruling on the law's application.

The decisions were handed down by Chief Judge Elbert P. Tuttle of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and District Judges Lewis R. Morgan and Frank A. Hooper.

They said that motels and restaurants offering to serve interstate travelers can be brought under interstate commerce regulations as the act directs, and therefore cannot discriminate against Negroes.

"It is clear that the definition includes the Pickrick," the court held. This is the limit of the case. Congress had the power to go this far.

All three judges concurred in both injunctions.

In a special concurring opinion, Hooper said it appeared that the Pickrick came within the law since it offered to serve interstate travelers by virtue of its location and a sign on a major route.

However, Hooper added: "The majority opinion roles in effect that segregation in this particular restaurant affects commerce because of the fact that a substantial portion of the food which it serves has moved in commerce."

In the motel decision, the court held there was no need to justify the outlawing of discrimination on the ground that the business is actually in the stream of commerce.

Cuba

States has had only partial success in its own efforts to persuade its allies to cut off their trade with Cuba.

In his speech, Rusk did not spell out the sanctions he proposed, but the foreign ministers have before them a resolution calling for all members of the Organization of American States to break diplomatic and trade relations with Cuba.

Venezuela Foreign Minister Ignazio Iribarren Borges, in presenting his country's case, said, "The destiny of our organization depends upon the decision adopted here."

He called for the application of all measures under the Inter-American Treaty of Mutual Assistance "with the exception of the use of armed force."

Foreign Minister Daniel Oduber of Costa Rica told the conference, "Aggression by Cuba against Venezuela has been proven. We have now to decide if there is an inter-American law or if we are afraid to act."

Ecuador Foreign Minister Gonzalo Escudero said the conference "has the undeniable mission to sanction an aggressor which is violating the inter-American law and has become a danger to all the Latin-American countries."

Jorge Fidel Duron, foreign minister of Honduras, appealed for sanctions on Cuba. Otherwise, he said, "The inter-American community would prove to be of no use."

Two Assigned To District Patrol Posts

The Lisbon and Canfield barracks of the State Highway Patrol today had two "new" faces as a result of a mass move of officer personnel in Ohio. Both, however, served formerly in the district.

Cpl. Howard R. Reinke, 34, is the newest addition to the Lisbon post and Cpl. James etz, 35, is the new man at the Canfield barracks.

Reinke was transferred from the Ashtabula post where he has been serving the past seven years. He replaces Cpl. E. D. Wain who has gone to the Massillon station.

Getz is the replacement for Cpl. Edward Centofante, who was switched to the Medina post, trading places with Getz. Reinke, originally of Conneaut, attended schools in West Springfield, Pa., and served with the Army military police after graduation as a provost marshal investigator in Germany.

Upon his return, he enrolled in the Patrol Academy and served at the Canfield post from 1953 to 1957 besides his duty at the Ashtabula post. He is married and has three daughters.

Getz also served at the Canfield post from October, 1954, to April 1955 after a tour of duty at Bucyrus. He has been at Medina since leaving Canfield.

A native of Barberton, Getz served four years in the Marine Corps, fighting in the Korean campaign and winning the Purple Heart for valor. He attended Akron Central High and Akron University. He is also the father of three daughters.

Getz and Reinke were among 23 men promoted to corporal last Spring and scheduled for movement to new posts.

of the intersection with Rt. 45, Depot Road, and Rt. 9. Construction is being carried out as a federal aid secondary project, with Columbiana County and the federal government participating.

The State Highway Department administers the contract. Present at the meeting besides Snyder were County Commissioner Walter A. Hunston, George L. Sankey of the City Asphalt and Paving Co., of Youngstown, State Highway Department officials, and representatives of the Bell Telephone Co., the Ohio Edison Co. and Columbia Gas of Ohio.

The Youngstown contractor has a completion date set for Nov. 15. Supervision of the construction will be carried out by the county engineer's office.

James Soda of Soda and Lusher Construction Co., the contractor for the Washingtonville project, old State Highway Department officials at another meeting at the Courthouse, that he will begin clearing work, followed by installation of a large pipe culvert, about the first week in August. The large pipe culvert will replace the existing bridge over Cherry Valley Run.

Present at the meeting, in addition to State Highway Department representatives, were officials from the village of Washingtonville: President of the Board of Public Affairs Carl Vignon, Councilman Lloyd Culter, and George Boston, Water and Sewer Department superintendent. County Engineer Charles Snyder represented the county. Officials from the Ohio Edison Co. and the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. also were present.

Ohio Highway Department Division Deputy Director Earl W. Nelson said that the length of the project, which calls for raising the grade of the existing pavement, is 0.1 mile. Completion date is set for Oct. 31.

Top Scientists See Chemicals As Key To Strength

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—Navy biological scientists are seriously dreaming of some day making men "temporarily superhuman" in strength and muscular control by giving them chemicals, it was disclosed today.

They also are speculating about eventual development of "Skin farms": these would be vast supplies of human skin, grown from individual skin cells in special chambers, and kept in readiness for use in mass disasters.

"Instant acclimatization": the ability to make a fighting man adjust to the terrific heat of a desert in minutes or hours rather than in days or weeks by giving him special drugs.

ble head injury treatment.

The Lisbon Patrol said Joan E. McLaughlin, 23, of 628 N. Beaver St., Lisbon, driving a pickup truck, was stopped to make a left turn into a private drive with Currenault halted behind her. An auto driven by Robert E. Thompson, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Thompson, 119 Pritchard Ave., Lisbon, came up from behind the stopped vehicles, striking the Weirton car and knocking it into the pickup truck. The youth was cited to Juvenile Court for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

A whiplash injury was also suffered by a Sebring youth in a two-car crash today at 1:10 a.m. on Route 62, one-tenth mile east of Westville. Charles Beckett Jr., 22, of 835 Johnson Rd. was treated by a family doctor after the car in which he was riding was struck by another.

The Lisbon Patrol said the cars operated by Raymond Gorbey, 23, of 125 W. Maryland Ave., Sebring and Joseph Whitlatch, 21, of 525 Ohio Ave., Sebring were heading west when Gorbey, in the act of passing Whitlatch, cut in too soon, sideswiping the other car in which Beckett was a passenger. The impact caused the Whitlatch auto to go off the right side of the highway.

The next morning Ginger came for the food, and dashed away. But this time she did not go far. She parked herself under a trailer close enough so that she could keep an eye on the shirt.

When young Barry came and whistled, she streaked from the hiding place and leaped into his arms.

Mrs. Elkins and her husband both are deaf, and the dog has an important place in their home. When Barry and his brother, Francis, are away, Mrs. Elkins says, Ginger lets her know if someone comes to the door or if anything is wrong.

9 Teachers Needed In County System

LISBON — County Superintendent James L. McBride announced today that the four county schools, Beaver, Fairfield, Waterford, Southern and United have openings for nine teachers.

A breakdown shows these teachers needed:

Industrial arts and home economics teachers at Beaver; physical education, social studies and assistant football coach at Fairfield-Waterford; two high school math, English and language, first and middle grade teachers at Southern, and an industrial arts teacher at United.

Area Youth Slightly Hurt In Accident

An area youth received minor injuries in a two-car accident at the intersection of Railroad St. and S. Ellsworth Ave. Wednesday at 11:15 a.m.

Taken to Central Clinic for treatment of a cut and bump on the forehead was Robert Sonagere, 15, of RD 3 Salem, a passenger in a car driven by Robert E. Beagle, 17, of 1335 Southeast Blvd.

Beagle was cited by police for failure to grant the right of way after he ran into the side of an auto driven by Earl A. McClellan Sr., 55, of 476 Aetna St. who was traveling east on Railroad St.

Another two-car mishap occurred at W. State St. and Jennings Ave. Wednesday at 11:22 p.m. Police said cars driven by Raymond J. Zepernick Jr., 18, of RD 1, Salem and Rita F. DiAntonio, 32, of RD 4, Salem collided.

Zepernick was cited for having malfunctioning turn signals.

Helen M. Radler, 48, of 1474 Cleveland Ave. was cited by police for an improper turn after she made a right turn onto Pershing St. from Park Ave., and collided with a vehicle driven by Carl W. Zimmerman, 68, of 688 E. 7th St., which was stopped for a stop sign on Pershing St., Wednesday at 11 a.m.

Carl H. Alesi Jr., 16, of RD 4, Salem, was cited for improper brakes after the vehicle he was driving struck a parked auto in the Burger Chef parking lot at 11:55 a.m. Wednesday. Police said the brakes on the Alesi vehicle did not hold when Alesi turned into the parking lot and hit the vehicle owned by Earl R. Whinnery, 29, of 444 Ohio Ave. ..

killed his first wife, showed the strain of the past week as he waited for the three judges to rule.

He chatted with courtroom officials but when left by himself held his head in his hands. His new wife, whom he met by mail while in the penitentiary, cried during a news conference after the court's decision.

She said her weeping was "tears of relief."

The former osteopath's first wife was slain July 4, 1954, in their suburban Cleveland home at Bay Village. Sheppard was arrested three weeks later. He has maintained his innocence since.

The case attracted wide attention and it was on the basis of this publicity, in part, that Judge Weinman ruled that Sheppard could not have received a fair trial and that his constitutional rights were violated.

The new hearing, whenever it is held, will be on the merits of Winman's release order.

Fairfield School $350,000 Bond Issue Certified

Joseph Driscoll, executive head of the Fairfield-Waterford School District, today delivered a board-approved resolution certifying to the County Board of Elections a $350,000 bond issue voters will act on in November.

The money will be used for physical improvements at Crestview High and at New Waterford and Fairfield buildings.

Driscoll is still seeking an assistant to head football coach Dave Habeger. The new coach will also be expected to teach social studies. The employment of the coaching aide and a half-time kindergarten instructor will complete the instructor roster for the new term.

Newest teachers hired are Mrs. Ida Marsolf of New Springfield, third grade at Fairfield; Mrs. Lillian Powell of Poland, high school English; and Andrew Domenick of Youngstown, music director; and Richard Dinello of New Brighton, Pa., chemistry and science.

The board has accepted the resignation of Merritt Hughes, a junior high coach and physical education teacher, who has accepted a teaching job in Trumbull County.

highly unusual demonstration of unity—issued early today a demand for the immediate firing of Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy; Deputy Commissioner Walter Arm, the public relations man for the police department; and the "inspector who led the riot squad in Harlem."

The Negro leaders, said to represent 52 Negro organizations, met Wednesday night in Harlem.

The leaders decided to send a five-man committee of their unity group—which was not given a name—to a meeting Friday night of Harlem Youth Opportunities Unlimited, a civic group, to join in a discussion of ways of presenting the grievances of Harlem residents to government officials.

Government funds have been allotted to the civic group to fight poverty and otherwise improve conditions in the area.

A jeering crowd of 500 white teen-agers threw eggs, bottles, stones and tin cans at about 200 Negro pickets outside city police headquarters in Manhattan Wednesday night.

A half-dozen pickets—allied with the Congress of Racial Equality—were hit by eggs.

The white teen-agers, who apparently were from the Italian-American neighborhood around police headquarters, shouted "Niggers go home" and "Communists must go."

Firecrackers popped at various spots in the neighborhood, adding to the tension.

Helmeted police, waving night sticks, charged the white teen-agers. Other policemen escorted the Negro pickets to a subway station three blocks away. This march took 15 minutes, and at each cross street the whites hurled more missiles, striking the police as often as the pickets.

The fray left the streets around police headquarters strewn with broken glass and other debris.

Lightning Kills Four Cows on Rogers Farm

Lightning caused the death of four heifers at the farm of C. C. Rogers of Georgetown Road Tuesday.

Rogers, who said that they were the best of his stock, discovered the dead cows Wednesday noon while walking through the orchard.

The cows apparently had huddled together during the storm when a bolt struck an elm tree near them. The electrical shock jumped from the tree to the animals.

Rogers said the cows were insured for $700. The three older heifers were valued at $200 apiece and the other at $100.

The D & B Products Co. of Minerva removed the carcasses from the orchard.

With Patients

Larry Muntz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olin K. Muntz of the Salem-Lisbon Road and a student at Ohio State University, is convalescing at the home of his parents following surgery at Mt. Carmel Hospital at Columbus.

David Higgins, 17, of Beloit, was treated at Alliance City Hospital Wednesday at 7:35 p.m. for a back injury incurred while swimming.

Timothy Costa, four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Costa of the Goshen Road, is in fairly good condition in the Alliance City Hospital where he was admitted at 8:15 p.m. Wednesday for treatment of an eye injury.

Salem Woman's Car Runs Into Ditch

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol reports Mrs. Nick Rini of 2120 Southeast Blvd. was involved in a one-car mishap early this morning at the intersection of Route 62 and Leffingwell Rd. south of Canfield.

A patrolman said Mrs. Rini apparently went through a stop sign into a ditch as she was westbound on Leffingwell. The mishap is under investigation and it is unknown if the woman was hurt.

Patrolman Rotruck was caught in the same way in a rescue attempt and dragged under.

The sudden storm dropped three inches of rain on the city in 65 minutes.

Swine Day Program Set

Several swine producers from Columbia County are planning to attend the swine day program scheduled at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster July 31, according to Bob Lewis, county extension agent in 4-H work.

The program will begin at 10:30 a.m. The event will be held at the W. L. Robison swine research center on County Rd. 44, north of Apple Creek.

Subject matter will cover swine research during the two years since the last swine days program was held.

Potato Growers To Meet

Area potato producers will hold their annual twilight meeting Tuesday at the Harold Thompson farm, west of Gvers, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

The tour of the Thompson farm will begin at 6:30 p.m. Potato variety plots, fertilization plots and examples of chemical weed control will be examined.

V. E. Keirns, manager, Ohio Potato Growers Association, and Eugene Wittmeyer, potato specialist at Ohio State University, will appear on the speaking program after the tour.

The event is planned by the Columbiana - Mahoning Potato Committee in cooperation with the County Extension Service. All area producers are invited, Myers said.

High Hopes For High Flier:

Amazing Ups and Downs of 142A

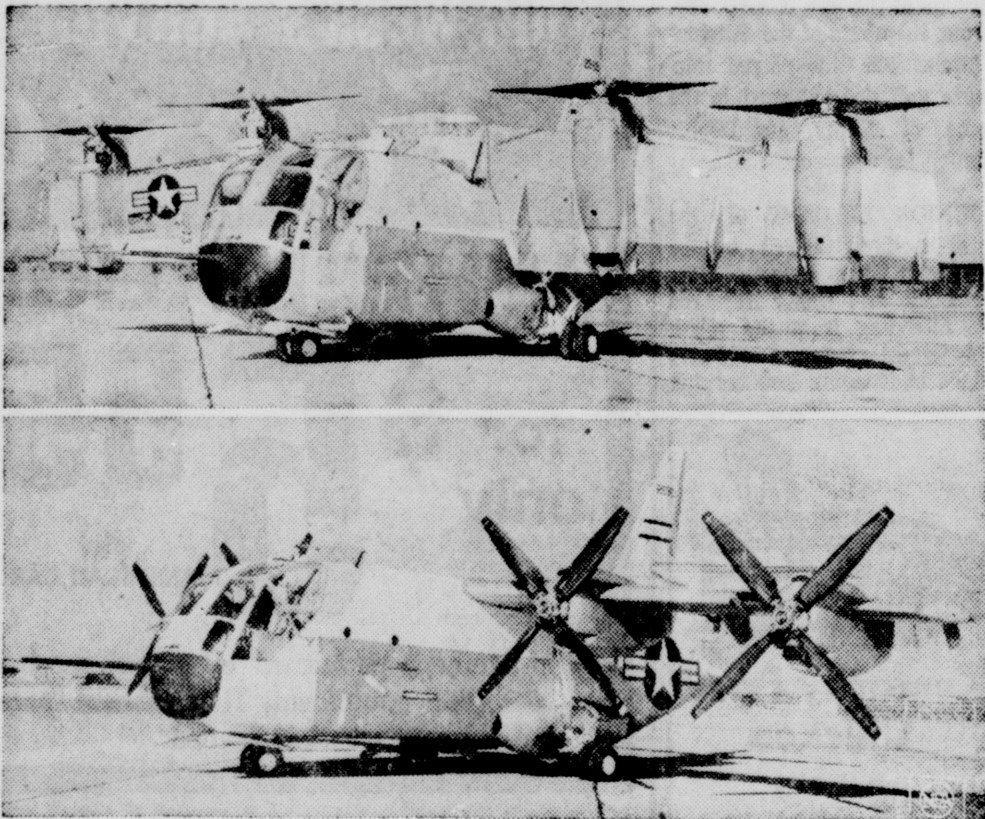

By TOM NOLAN
DALLAS — (NEA) — What has two wings, flies at 430 miles per hour and can land in a tennis court? By the time flight tests are completed, the Air Force may be able to answer with a series of letters that looks like a Russian code: XC-142A VTOL.

The last part first. VTOL stands for vertical take-off and landing. The XC part of the formula means a new plane recently rolled out before military brass at the Ling Temco-Vought Co. in Dallas.

The aircraft has been described as "a half-smoked cigar with propellers." The plane is designed to take off vertically, straighten out in midair and then fly faster than most of the World War II fighter planes — in excess of 430 m.p.h.

THIS SORT OF THING has been tried before. When the big difference comes in is when the plane settles for a landing. The process is reversed, and the craft is brought back to earth.

When ready for take-off, the wings pivot straight up—giving it the appearance of a model plane assembled in a hobby shop after the lights went out. The plane is designed for swift transport of combat troops, equipment and supplies from assault ships and airfield to rough terrain under all weather conditions, similar to the demands of Asian combat. It can carry 32 fully equipped combat troops or 8,000 cruse on two engines for fuel economy and to hover and land vertically even with one engine out.

THE LIGHT SAYS "TILT": When heading for the clouds or down to earth, the wings of the XC-142A pivot upward. For straight flight they swing level.

With all engines operating, it has a rate of climb of 6,800 feet per minute. With one engine out, it can still climb at half that rate.

The plane's blunt, squared-off design enables it to carry such payloads as a 106 mm rifle, components of the Pershing missile system, a 1½-ton truck, 32 troops, 24 litter patients or a 105 mm howitzer.

ALTHOUGH THE XC 142A was developed for the military, its uses could extend far beyond the combat mission. Other aerial operations could include city-to-city transportation, supply delivery to virtually inaccessible disaster areas, rescue operations and remote region exploration.

Current contracts call for the delivery of five planes by March 1966. Total cost will be about $100 million.

The first one is scheduled to be delivered to the tri-service evaluation team at Edwards Air Force Base, Calif., in January 1965.

Engineers estimate that assembly-line production techniques could lower the cost of a VTOL aircraft to between $2 and $3 million per plane.

This would put it near the commercially feasible price range. Since the plane can land on a helicopter pad, air strip construction and maintenance costs would be virtually eliminated.

Reveals Results of Questionnaires

Hays Checks 'Grassroots' Feeling on Crucial Issues

Results of a questionnaire recently sent out by Ohio congressman Wayne L. Hays of the 18th district revolving around 10 key national and international political issues were made public today by the congressman.

To obtain "grassroots" feelings on the crucial issues, Hays mailed out the 10 questions to voters in the five-county congressional district and received back 5,071 questionnaire forms completed.

Here are the questions asked and the responses from residents of Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison and Belmont Counties:

1. Do you favor the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 to implement the President's program for a national war against poverty?

Yes, 3507; no, 1310; undecided, 254.

2. Do you favor the Medicare Program providing hospital insurance for the aged under Social Security, with federal appropriations to pay for benefits for all over 65 not covered by Social Security?

Yes, 3180; no, 1706; undecided, 205.

3. Do you favor continuation of the Accelerated Public Works Program of grants for local public works in areas of severe unemployment?

Yes, 3382; no, 844; undecided, 245.

4. Do you approve the program of advance loans to states and communities for planning reserve public works projects?

Yes, 3254; no, 1364; undecided, 453.

5. Do you favor the bill authorizing continued aid to communities to combat water pollution?

Yes, 4240; no, 567; undecided, 264.

6. Do you approve the Food for Peace Program providing greater use of United States food surpluses?

Yes, 3779; no, 963; undecided, 329.

7. Do you favor continuing the Foreign Aid Program for the coming year but in reduced amounts for both economic and military assistance?

Yes, 3000; no, 1657; undecided, 414.

8. Do you favor continuation of the Peace Corps?

Yes, 3795; no, 1008; undecided, 268.

9. Do you approve the bill establishing a domestic National Service Corps patterned after the Peace Corps?

Yes, 2645; no, 1863; undecided, 563.

10. Do you favor legislation regulating the sale of firearms through the mail to prevent their purchase by minors and those with a criminal record?

Yes, 4147; no, 823; undecided, 101.

LBJ Asks IBOP Chief to Meeting

E. L. Wheatley, president of the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters, has accepted an invitation from President Lyndon B. Johnson to attend a White House conference Friday at 4 p.m., presumably to discuss questions of interest to the labor movement and matters affecting the national economy.

Wheatley wired an acceptance after receiving a telegram signed by Johnson that did not make clear the exact purpose of the meeting. It said:

"I would be pleased if you could be present. Please present House at 4 p.m. July 24. An exchange of views with you and other outstanding leaders of our country is, I believe, important."

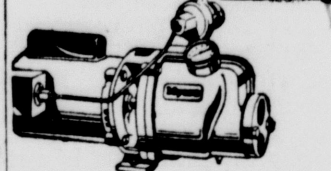

and desirable. I would be grateful if you could win me if you could be present. Please present this telegram at the southwest gate."

IBOP officials said they assume the conference will bring together other executives from labor and management.

Letters sent to the president of the United States are addressed: "The President, The White House, Washington, D.C."

Jackie's Job

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—When she first came to Manhattan, Geraldine Page worked as a hat-check girl.

She sold Christmas cards in a book store. She modeled negligees. She got a job in a thread factory, and as she wrapped the packages of thread she read Shakespeare.

Today Jerry Page is rated by many in the theater as one of the nation's most gifted actresses. But she likes to recall those early struggling years.

"I got $5 a week on hat checking jobs," she recalled. "They also expected you to steal 10 cents from every quarter you got—but not if they were looking."

"That made it all rather complicated, and I couldn't keep my arithmetic straight."

She quit her $21-a-week job in the thread factory for a part in an off-Broadway show for which she got $10 a week. Since then her name has brightened many marquees.

At present Miss Page is starring in a revival of Anton Chekhov's "The Three Sisters."

"So far I've played about 450 roles in my career," she said, "and I'd like to play at least that many more."

"Acting is so much fun. You get so wrapped up in the problems of the character you're playing that you forget your own."

"Acting is also a joy because you never get through with it. You can never say, 'Well, at last I know it all.' In acting you never reach the bottom of the cup, particularly if you have the good fortune to play a variety of roles. There's always something more to learn."

Jerry is married to actor Rip Torn, and they have a 5-month-old daughter, Angelica. On Matinee days—which happens to be the maid's day off—Jerry brings the baby to the theater dressing room.

She feels her own greatest character defects are laziness and timidity.

"I have a tendency not to fight things through. I sometimes chicken out before I ought to."

You wouldn't think, to look at him, that Al Lewis is 300 years old, and he isn't. But in a new fall series about a family of lovable ogres, "The Munsters," he will play the 19th-century Grandpa, a bumbling alchemist whose love potions still could use a pinch of nutmeg. "I've heard the character called a Dracula." Al was saying the other day through a wall of cigar smoke, "but I say no. When I brought a picture of me in makeup home to my wife, she said, 'You look like somebody drawn by that guy who did the Dickens characters, Cruikshank.'"

"I'm sort of a Maj. Hoople of the 17th century. I talk big. I'm harmless, a fifth-rate alchemist. If there'd been a Friars Club in the 1600s, I wouldn't have gotten in."

"I don't have a parakeet, but I go a round with a bat on my shoulder, named Igor. A man 300 years old wouldn't have a parakeet. I do the part with an accent, but not like Lugosi or anything; maybe there's a little W. C. Fields in it, but fast-talking — a skill."

The idea of casting Al Lewis as a kind of Fieldian Dracula doubtlessly was inspired by the contradictions in Lewis' own individuality, part of which found expression in the role of "Car 54's" raucous Sgt. Leo Schnauzer.

OTHER PIECES of the real Al Lewis come through in the most amiable, sunny personality this side of Pogo: fact is that Lewis used to be a teacher of handicapped children and is the author of many children's books and detective stories.

He also has the stature of a grizzly bear, a stubby-toothed smile that has done no harm whatever to his career in comedy, a happy-go-lucky squint and a large talent.

In "The Munsters," Al will be reunited with another "Car 54" alumnus, Fred Gwynne, who will be the spittin' image of Frankenstein's Monster this time out.

YVONNE DE CARLO will play Fred's wife as a chalky vamp. A small boy named Butch Patrick will be a pointed-eared grand child, with a pair of long, sharp eye teeth that are strictly his own.

"We will live in a kind of Edgar Allen Poe house in a suburban area like Levittown. We think our neighbors are frightening types, but we can't understand why we scare them."

"They see Fred stretched out on the table in my dungeon-laboratory, where I'm only treating him for sinus, and they scream. They also can't understand why we have a hearse for a family car."

"Makeup? Don't remind me. I get up at 5, am at the studio by 6 and take two hours making up — putting the nose on with spirit gum, drawing the cheeks in, flattening and blackening the hair in the middle, and pulling it out and whitening it on the sides."

IT WAS ALL created by Perc Westmore, who designed the original Karloff Monster. But the worst thing about it is, it takes me an hour to get the stuff off every night before I can leave the studio.

"Scary? Nah. You should see Freddie in all his makeup, giving you a kind of start; but then he brushes his teeth and a creature like that brushing his teeth is pretty funny."

"No, we're lovable — that's the word. I happen to like horror films myself, though. If something great is playing on the Late Show on Channel 2 and "Son of the Vampire's is on Channel 3, I'll take the 'Vampire' every time."

"BEING SCARED has an attendant titillation — that kind of nice, giddy feeling you can get in an elevator sometimes. Sometimes on vacation in a lonely country place, I'll go out along late at night along a dark road and give myself that scary feeling around the stomach and around the knees."

In "the Munsters" bring nothing but smiles to Al Lewis' open kisser.

"I love acting, working," he says, "whether the part's a lead or a two-line walk-on. And as for moving the family to Hollywood, it'd have to be real bad to make a dent with me."

"I won't miss anything too much about big-city life, unless it's going down to the cigar store on the corner for a cigar when I want."

Lisbon Social

By ETTA MAE ALEXANDER of Thompson Hall for the annual tea party Tuesday afternoon. Thirty-two members of the Lisbon Garden Club and guest, Mrs. Robert Leggett, president, presided at the business meeting and the election of new officers.

Mrs. George Lafferty was elected president for the coming year. Also elected were Mrs. Perlee Bye, vice president; Mrs. Graham Kearns, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Loch, recording secretary; Mrs. Donald Tanner, corresponding secretary. A crystal compote containing an arrangement of wine and yellow colored snapdragons and petunias, centered the tea table. Mrs. Leggett, presided at the punch bowl.

"The Open Door" written by Faith Baldwin, was read by Mrs. Guy Fuhrman, and later members toured the Thompson Hall flower gardens. Sept. 15 is the next meeting when the newly elected officers will assume their duties.

Women's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Miss Lily Jones of W. Washington St. Tuesday afternoon. "Patriots" was the subject presented by the Rev. Fredrick Shiltz, pastor of the First Methodist Church, guest speaker who was introduced by Mrs. Homer Bell.

The devotions were led by Mrs. Frank Flugan. A picnic at Morgan's Monument will be held by the group Aug. 18.

Cheerful Workers Club met at the home of Mrs. Homer Ferguson of N. Jefferson St. Tuesday afternoon for a cookout. Mrs. Robert Rockwell was in charge of the barbecuing. Mrs. William Ferguson of Wellsville, houseguest of her son, Homer, joined the 11 members present for the affair. In September, the club will join another neighborhood club at the Mt. Nebo Grange Hall, to view a film by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.

Tribe Ends 12-Game Road Trip At Baltimore Tonight

Indians Dump Orioles 7-4

8th Inning Rally Clinches Contest

BALTIMORE (AP) — With a four-game winning streak to keep alive, the Cleveland Indians end a 12-game road trip here tonight sending Sam McDowell against the Baltimore Orioles' Robin Roberts.

The Indians won their seventh in 11 games on this trip last night by bunching four runs in the eighth inning, including two on a single by winning pitcher Dick Doovan, who is batting .148.

The 7-4 triumph was Donovan's fifth against seven losses, but he didn't finish. Manager Birdie Tebbetts yanked him after Luis Aparicio opened the eighth with a homer that was the Birds' final run.

Although the Indians got 13 hits off loser Milt Pappas and reliever Dick Hall, had base running cost them four outs.

Tito Francona, who made one boo-boo by straying too far from second base and being thrown out in the third inning, had a fourth-inning home run. John Romano should have been on base to score ahead of him but had been thrown out at second trying to stretch a single.

Before Donovan's clutch single in the eighth-inning rally, Bob Chance was thrown out at home on Fred Whitfield's pinch single. But a pair of walks, both intentional, filled the bases with two outs and set the stage for Donovan's winning hit. Dick Howser singled in another run, and Vic Davaillo doubled to bring in Donovan and put the Tribe ahead 7-2.

Salem Horse Entered At Northfield Tonight

Caramel Hanover, a two-year-old pacing filly owned by William J. Albright of Salem, and trained and driven by Bruce Nickells, will seek her fourth victory as she goes postward in the sixth dash, and About Time is the early favorite in the $3,000 Cuyahoga Pacing Stakes tonight at Northfield Park.

The Sampson Hanover-Candee sidwheeler won her last, and will step out from the inside rail as she opposes Linda's First, Project Apollo, Irisha, Justapproved, Manor Caprice, Rusty Lind and Wicked Dream. About Time, a three-year-old who was victorious 12 times last year will be reined by Earl Bowman as he faces the strong entry of Shawne Volo and William Pick from the stable of Clarence Newhart, as well as Cindy Byrd, Gold Note, Ez Along and Kiss In Time, in this the third and final leg of the early closer for three-year-olds.

RAISING A POINT — Mickey Mantle slides into third base at Yankee Stadium and apparently made his point with umpire Sam Carrigan who ruled him safe.

Mets Spill Cincy Again 4-3 In 10 Innings

LA's Koufax Runs Streak To 11, Is Now 15-4; Pirates Romp 13-2

By MIKE RATHET

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax Wednesday night tossed a four-hit, 12-strikeout job that beat Houston 1-0 and ended the Los Angeles Dodgers losing streak at four games.

Koufax now has won 11 games in a row since he last lost on May 27, boosting his record to 15-4 while his sixth shut lowered his earned run average to a remarkable 1.78.

Just as remarkable was the feat of Philadelphia's light-hitting Bobby Wine, a .205 swinger who slammed his second homer in two nights, a bases-empty shot off Warren Spahn that triggered the National League leading Phillies to a 4-1 victory over Milwaukee.

Hitting honors for the day, however, went to Pittsburgh's Bill Mazeroski and Willie Stargell. Mazeroski drove in five runs and Stargell hit for the cycle with a single, double, triple and homer as the Pirates lashed 18 hits and crushed St. Louis 13-2.

Elsewhere, the second-place

San Francisco Giants remained one game off the pace by belting the Chicago Cubs 7-3 but the third-place Cincinnati Reds fell 4½ games back by losing their fifth straight to the New York Mets, 4-3 in 10 innings.

Koufax, who struck out 10 or more batters in a game for the 58th time in his career, had to be at his best against Houston's Ken Johnson, who allowed only seven hits before he left for a pinch hitter in the eighth.

The lone Dodger run came across in the third when Derrell Griffith and Ron Fairly snatched doubles.

Wine, who hit a homer Tuesday night before singling home the decisive run, got the job done again for the Phillies by breaking a 1-1 tie with his homer in the seventh inning. The Braves only run came on a homer by Spahn off Ray Culp, 8-5.

Mazeroski batted in a run with a sacrifice fly in the first, doubled home two runs in the seventh and hit a two-run homer in the ninth. Stargell contributed three runs batted in with his 4-for-4 performance while Jerry Lynch came up with the same run production on a homer and single.

Bob Veale got the victory, his 11th against six losses. The loser was Roger Craig 5-5.

Home runs by Hal Lanier and Orlando Cepeda did most of the damage for the Giants. Lanier hit a three-run shot in the fifth and Cepeda connected with one on in the sixth — both homers opposite field hits off Larry Jackson, 12-8.

Billy Pierce checked the Cubs on two hits in four innings of relief work, picking up his second victory without a loss.

The Reds tied the score 3-3 in the eighth when singles by Frank Robinson and Don Pavlich around an infield out produced a run, but the Mets won it in the 10th when Ron Hunt singled, moved up on a sacrifice and scored on a pinch-hit double by Jim Hickman.

Larry Elliot homered for the Mets, Deron Johnson for the Reds.

Angels Nip Chisox 3-2 To Move Into 4th Place; Yankees Romp

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Which major league team has the best record since June 15?

It's the Los Angeles Angels, who moved into sole possession of fourth place in the AL

Wednesday night with a 3-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

The Angels, one of the zaniest collections of major leaguers since St. Louis' Gas House Gang, were lodged in ninth place June 15 with a poor record of 24-37. Since then, they have won 26 and lost 11, a lofty percentage of .703.

For their latest victory, though, they needed the aid of a couple of pitches from knuckle ball artist Hoyt Wilhelm. The Angels trailed 2-1 entering the ninth inning.

Jim Fregosi singled with one out, trotted to second when Wilhelm hit Willie Smith with a pitch and scored the tying run on a single by Bob Rodgers. One out later, with Lou Clinton at bat, Wilhelm uncorked a pitch that got away from catcher J. C. Martin for a passed ball, and Smith scampered home with the winning run.

In other AL games, New York defeated Washington 6-3, Cleveland knocked off Baltimore 7-4, Kansas City trimmed Minnesota 6-4 and Detroit outlasted Boston 8-6.

The White Sox grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning on run-scoring doubles by Don Buford and Pete Ward. But Fred Newstretch retired 17 straight Chicago batters. Joel Horlen allowed the Angels only three hits before leaving for Wilhelm in the eight.

The Yankees managed only four hits against the Senators, but all came in the fifth inning when they erupted for five runs, the last three on Joe Pepitone's bases-loaded triple. Mickey Mantle batted in the first two man settled down and at one runs with a double.

The victory kept the Yankees in first place, only the second time this season they've held that spot two straight days.

Picher Dick Donovan rapped a two-run single that snapped a 3-3 tie and shot the Indians past the Orioles. Woodie Held was given an intentional walk, loaded the bases, before Donovan singled with two out in the eighth. The Indians scored twice more in the rally.

Kansas City handed the Twins their seventh straight defeat behind the hitting of Rocky Colavito. The A's slugger homered in the first inning, then connected for his 24th following Nelson Mathews' single in the night. The second blast broke a 4-4 deadlock. Earl Battey and Tony Oliva homered for Minnesota.

Al Kaline, Dick McAuliffe and Norm Cash each homered and drove in two runs for the Tigers. Ed Bressoud and Bob Tillman slammed homers for the Red Sox while Dalton Jones made it close with a two-run single in the ninth.

Giants Cut 2 Halfbacks

Hornung Looks Impressive In Packers First Scrimmage

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Paul Hornung is back with the Green Bay Packers and that means trouble for the Chicago Bears, the National Football League champions.

Hornung, star halfback who led the Packers to the 1962 NFL title then was suspended a year for betting on league games, worked out with the Packers Wednesday for the first time since his suspension in April, 1963.

He appeared in top physical condition, brightening Green Bay hopes of regaining the NFL crown from the Bears. The first time he carried the ball in a controlled scrimmage he burst through the defensive line.

The Bears, preparing for their game with the College All-Stars Aug. 7 in Chicago that officially kicks off the season, put in a 45-minute scrimmage at their camp.

The San Diego Chargers, champions of the American League, held their first pre-season drills and coach Sid Gillman said they were the best in his 19 years as a mentor.

Other developments on the pro football front as the training tempo picked up included:

Detroit Lions—Halfback Dick LeBeau and fullback Nick Pietrosante signed contracts.

New York Giants—Cut halfbacks John Rollins and Bob Dunn.

Los Angeles Rams—Jon Arnett, recently switched from halfback to end, twisted his right knee in practice and will be out for several days.

Kansas City Chiefs—Announced Jerry Mays, defensive lineman, had decided to end his retirement.

Houston Oilers—Cut rookies Al Hilderbrand, Charles Talbert and Dee White.

Buffalo Bills—Filed claim for

Paul MacGuire who was put on waivers by San Diego.

Baltimore Colts—Defense beat the offense 16-0 in a scrimmage in which the defense was credited with two points each time they stopped the offense short of a first down.

New York Jets—Rookie guard Dave Herman of Michigan State was named to start Friday's rookie game with Boston Patriots at Lynn, Mass.

San Francisco 49ers—Coach Jack Christiansen praised the Ollie Ross and Dave Kopay.

Oakland Raiders—Star end Art Powell still is missing from camp. Doug Brown of Fresno State signed contract as free agent.

Independent Hose Wins 15th In Class H; Hunt's Triumphs

Independent Hose tuned up for its Hot Stove sectional title clash Saturday by knocking off Stark's Colonial Attic 10-1 in a Junior Baseball League Class H contest at Kelley Field yesterday.

Moose came from behind with an eight-run rally in the fourth frame as it beat CIO 1538 16-7, and Dairy Isle nipped Quaker Manufacturing 8-7 at Buckeye Field.

Gary Ormes raced home with the winning run in the bottom of the seventh to give Hunt's Independent Union a 6-5 victory over Lions Club, and Knights of Columbus clipped National Dry Cleaners 13-3 in Class G action at Memorial and Centennial parks respectively.

A six-run rally in the second inning by Independent Hose broke the ball game wide open. Tom Galchick led the winners with a home run and double. Scott Heim and winning hurler Bill Helman also blasted homers.

It was the 15th straight victory for Independent Hose, while Stark's Colonial Attic lost its sixth game in 14 starts.

Helman pitched five innings. He gave up the only hit the losers got to Mike Bezeredi, who singled in the third session.

The winning hurler also struck out 11 and walked four.

Moose (13-2), down 4-3, tallied eight runs in the fourth on three walks, fielder's choice, three singles and a double by Tom Dominic.

Tom Dominic led the winners with a double and two singles. Dave Odorizzi and Bob Baker had a pair of hits apiece.

Brad Tolson had the only extra base hit for CIO 1538 (5-9) as he belted a double in the two-run fourth inning. Dick Treleven singled twice for the losers.

J. C. Phillips scored on an error in the bottom of the seventh to give Dairy Isle its win.

Bob Daley led the winners (9-5) with a triple and double. He was also the winning pitcher, striking out 12.

Terry Mounts led the losers (5-11) with a pair of singles. A total of 16 batters went down swinging for Quaker Manufacturing.

Hunt's (11-4) picked up four markers in the fifth to take a 5-2 margin.

Lions Club (4-12) retaliated to cut the deficit in the sixth with a run, then tied the score in the seventh as two runs came in on a walk, error and a single by Dennis Baker.

Ormes, who led the winners with three hits, then led off the bottom of the seventh with a single and raced home on a walk for Hunt's.

Winning pitcher Craig Anderson struck out 14 and walked two.

Knights of Columbus picked up its ninth win in 15 starts, while handing National Dry Cleaners its ninth setback in 15 tries.

Winning pitcher John Lantz belted two doubles and a single. Dan Russell socked a homer and double, and Jeff Martin collected two doubles. Neil Walker and Dan Palmer each had a triple.

Dale Cody, Tim Smith and Fred Safreed each hit a single for the losers' only hits.

4 Taxi Squad Rookies Draw Attention At Browns' Camp

HIRAM, Ohio (AP)—Back in the early days of the Cleveland Browns, coach Paul Brown developed what came to be known as the "taxi squad."

Arthur B. McBride, Brown's owner, owned a taxi company, and some of the extra players who didn't fit on the squad were employed as cab drivers. That way, when Brown needed a replacement in a hurry, he would call someone in from the "taxi squad."

Blanton Collier, who took over as head coach last year, revived the plan of keeping strings attached to a few players who were not on the regular squad.

Four rookies who seemed to have pro-football potential but didn't fit into last season's plans are drawing attention during the first week of the 1964 training session.

Strongest prospects are Walter Beach at corner back and Roger Shoals at guard. The other two are Cliff McNeil and Tom Goosby.

Beach, from Central Michigan, was on the regular roster at the end of last season and is the leading candidate to replace the retired Jim Shofer at right corner back.

Shoals, formerly of the University of Maryland, was tried at tackle last year but couldn't make the grade his first year at camp. But he worked through all the Browns' practices at League Park last fall and winter and this year he exudes a new confidence.

McNeil, who is as fast as anyone in camp, is considered a good prospect at flanker and Goosby will be battling for a post at either linebacker or guard.

AGAINST ALL FAILURES
Every ALLSTATE tire is guaranteed against all failures from road hazards or defects for the life of the original tread. If tire fails, we will at our option—repair it without cost; or, in exchange for the tire, we will replace it charging only for tread worn (charge will be a pro-rata share of exchange price).

TREAD WEAR GUARANTEE
We guarantee tread life for the number of months designated. If tread wears out within this period, return it. In exchange, we will replace it charging the current exchange price less a set dollar allowance.

Exchange Price is regular retail price plus Federal Excise Tax less trade-in at time of return (no trade-in deduction on snow tires).

New Books at Salem Public Library

FICTION

Fiction received and put out for the public during this week has been - STRANGE BLUE YAWL by Fletcher; FRENCH BRIDE by Anthony; TRAIL AT MONOMOY by Masters; TWO SETS TO MURDER by Peters; ONE DAY IN THE AFTER-NOON OF THE WORLD by Saroyan; ARMAGEDDON by Uris. NON-FICTION

CHRISTIAN PRIMER by Louis Cassells. Many adults are active in the work of many different denominations of the Christian church, yet they do not know the basic doctrines of the Christian faith. This little book has been written to meet that need. It is short and concise, and well written.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS by A. B. Wildavsky and Nelson Polsby. This comes at a good time for us to increase our understanding of the many factors that are involved in and may influence a presidential election.

TAXPAYER'S HAYRIDE by Julius Duschka. This is a history of the aid to agriculture program from its inception some 30 years ago to the present. It is also an indictment of the government's handling of the issue and of the people who make money from it dishonestly.

AMERICA'S NEW POLICY MAKERS by Donald W. Cox. An analysis of why and how there is a great participation of scientists in government at the policy level. This is a hard-hitting and fascinating look into what has been happening to change the course of history.

A STAR CALLED THE SUN by George Gamow. This well-known scientist has now done for the sun the same kind of descriptive job that he did so well in his earlier and popular book "A Planet Called Earth."

WONDER DRUGS by Helmut M. Boettcher. This is a history of antibiotics, and the effect they have had upon disease and many other aspects of modern life.

THE HISTORY OF AIRSHIPS by Basil Clarke. A British authority and historian on aeronautics writes this interesting history of lighter-than-air craft.

HARDY GARDEN BULBS by Bertrude S. Wister. A well-known horticulturist gives sound advice on the selection and care of bulbs. There are no illustrations, but the material is excellent.

I WENT TO THE WOODS by Ronald Austig. The title comes from a quotation by Thoreau, the author is a forest ranger and lives in Harrison, Ohio. He is not only a naturalist but an adept writer as well as he tells of many adventures with our own wild life.

CAREERS AND OPPORTUNITIES IN MUSIC by Alan Rich. A New York Herald Tribune music critic gives advice to young people on the rewards, training, education, other attributes necessary to a successful career in music.

FOUR FLIGHTS UP by Margalo Gillmore. Reminiscences of her childhood, growing up and first success of this famous actress.

TECHNIQUE IN FICTION by Robie Macauley and George Lanning. Two editors of the Kenyon Review discuss the novel of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. The book is divided into three main parts - Conception, background and organic form and final meaning. A great many quotations are used as examples.

ARGUMENTATION AND DEBATE by McBurney and Mills. An extensive revision of a standard text on the subject, this is an excellent source of the how and why of debating for beginners or more experienced speakers.

Three new plays are BUT FOR WHOM CHARLIE by S.N. Behrman; A CASE OF LIBEL by Henry Denker, which is based on Louis Nizer's autobiography "My Life in Court"; DYLAN by Sidney Michaels which is based on Caitlin Thomas' "Leftover Life to Kill."

ALL THE BEST IN JAPAN AND THE ORIENT by Sydney Clark. This travel book is more geared to making the traveler acquainted with some of the customs and history of the country than this author usually does. He lists some of the Japanese words that every traveler ought to know in order to understand what he is seeing also.

ADENAUER by Charles Wighton. This author, an Englishman who has lived in Germany for many years, writes very forthright criticism of the man who controlled the destiny of West Germany for so many years. Mr. Wighton knows Germany very well, whether his judgements are always sound can be determined more by time than in any other way.

ON A SHOESTRING AND A PRAYER by Raymond P. Sloan. A biography of Mother Alice, a Franciscan Sister well known for her ability to run hospitals, as well as to work miracles with people in the way of obtaining money and help for the hospitals.

MARYKNOLL'S FIRST LADY by Sister Jeanne Marie. The biography of the Foundress of the Maryknoll Sisters by a woman who knew her for many years. The biography follows her from the time she was a Junior at Smith college right on through all of her life.

MARGARET CHASE SMITH by Frank Graham, Jr. This is an informal biography of the first woman of either major political party to announce her candidacy for the President of the United States. The author sketches her private life briefly, and gives a sketch of her long life in politics.

THE TALL AND SMALL — Carol Davis, Oklahoma College Queen, standing five feet, ten inches, towers over Hawaii College Queen, Karen Uemoto, who is just short of five feet. Carol is the tallest of the 50 queens in New York competing in brains and beauty for the 1964 national College Queen title.

LBJ To Speak At Scout Jamboree

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP)—It's now or never for 53,124 Boy Scouts to make the best swap for sought-after shoulder patches and insignias from all 50 states and 42 foreign countries.

Their week-long encampment on 1,900 acres of rolling hills and valleys where George Washington in 1777-78 ends tonight, climaxed by a visit from President Johnson, the nation's No. 1 scout.

The grand finale will be a mammoth pageant in an open arena, which will feature President Johnson between a Scout hootenanny and a closing candle symbolizing the flame of liberty in the world.

Johnson, who is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America as every president before him since 1910—will fly to the jamboree from the White House lawn. A crowd of 100,000 is expected to see and hear him. Friday, after breakfast, 40,000 scouts will move out of the area in special buses, bound for train, bus and air terminals. The rest depart on Saturday.

West Branch Band Mothers Hold Meeting

Fourteen members were present when the West Branch Band Mothers met Tuesday at the junior high school. Mrs. Richard Burton, president, opened the meeting with prayer.

Announcement was made that shirts and gloves which had been ordered must be obtained by band members by Aug. 1.

Granges

Uniforms for the majorettes were discussed.

A set of rules and regulations to be followed for new band uniforms was set up. Next meeting will be at 6:30 p.m. Aug. 18 at the junior high school.

Mt. Nebo Meets

Nineteen members attended the meeting of Mt. Nebo Grange Wednesday night at the grange hall.

They completed plans for the strawberry festival Saturday at 4:30 p.m. It will be held at the grange hall on Rt. 45 between Salem and Lisbon.

An announcement was made of the 90th anniversary celebration of Butler Grange which will be held at Butler Grange Hall Aug. 2 at 2 p.m.

The lecturer's program in charge of Mrs. Harold Sebrrell included, group singing; poem, "My Garden," by Mrs. Carl Bailey; reading, "How My Family Cured Me of Saying, 'When I Was a Boy,'" by Mrs. Sebrrell, and a stunt in charge of Mrs. Howard Wilhelm.

The grange's next meeting will be Aug. 12 at 8:30 p.m.

Greenford

Greenford Busy Bee Cooking Club met at the Green Township Coy Memorial Park for lunch. Twenty-six members were present. Demonstrations were given by Cindy Votaw and Janice Oliver. Judging will be held at 9 a.m. July 31 at the park. Next regular meeting will be at noon Monday at the park. Home Circle Club held its annual family picnic with 40 persons present at the Green Township Coy Memorial Park. After the picnic, games were played. Pythian Sisters will meet at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the hall.

Births

CENTRAL CLINIC HOSPITAL Son to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bailey of RD 2, Salem, today.

Beans Help Summertime Meals

Chilled, as in a salad or warmed as in a casserole a bean dish on the menu will fill the bill in warm (let's face it) sometimes chilly early summer days.

Bean and Cheese salad is one of those so - simple - to - make ahead-of-time chilled dishes that make a perfect picnic package.

It is also appropriate to serve when the homemaker decides to spend the early summer days in the garden or beat the late summer heat by taking the children for a swim.

The Bean and Cheese Salad can also be dressed up to serve at luncheon. "Tomato Flowers" can be formed by cutting the tomatoes almost through into six wedge-shaped sections. These sections are then spread open, petal-fashion, on a lettuce leaf.

The center of the tomato flower is filled with the Bean and Cheese salad.

Bean and Cheese Salad
1 can (1 pound) vegetarian

beans in tomato sauce, ½ cup julienne cheese, 1 cup chopped celery, 1 can (4 ounces) Vienna sausage, drained, sliced, 2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped, 1 table-spoon minced onion, ½ cup India or sweet relish, 2 table-spoons mayonnaise or salad dressing, ¼ teaspoon salt

Drain excess sauce from beans. Combine beans and remaining ingredients. Chill. Serve on lettuce or in tomato flower. Makes 4 servings.

Farm Work Mishaps

Injure 321,600 Each Year

Surveys show that many of these accidents on farmlands and about farm buildings took the lives of young people who were not properly safeguarded by their parents and had not acquired safety instructions.

Foresight now will at least take the sting of financial burden away from these accidents that seem bound to happen!

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Excess Fat Often Slows Healing of Wound

The healing of wounds is normally an automatic process, but it can be slowed in various ways. As a general rule, wounds of the face, neck and scalp heal rapidly because these areas have a richer than average blood supply. Wounds of the abdomen heal more quickly than those of the extremities because the tissues of the abdominal wall are normally maintained at a higher temperature.

Conversely, cooling will slow the healing of any wound. Wounds in children and young adults heal more quickly than those in older persons. Excessive fat is often a hindrance to healing.

ACTH and cortisone will delay healing because they prevent inflammation and the early inflammatory stage of wound healing is an essential part of the reparative process.

Many refinements in the cleaning and protecting of wounds are now available to your doctor. These are especially applicable to the carefully planned wounds that he must make when he has to operate. One such innovation is a liquid spray dressing which forms a film over the cutting area. This has been found to aid in preventing wound infection.

Another means of preventing such infections is the use of isoniazid. This drug, originally used to combat the tubercle bacillus, appears to stimulate tissue resistance to infection with other germs. And then there is a new surgical dressing (Drisite) made of rayon fibers placed between layers of polyurethane foam. This type of dressing rapidly absorbs any fluid that may ooze from a wound. By thus keeping the wound dry the chances for infection are reduced and prompt healing is assured.

One of the advantages of the planned surgical wound is that it can follow what are known as natural lines of cleavage. These are the same lines that wrinkles follow in older persons. Using these lines allows your surgeon to give you a scar that is scarcely visible.

Q—A friend of mine who visits me often tells me that people snub or ignore him. Sometimes when he is in a public place they even go so far as to make whispered derogatory remarks about him. Do you think he has delusions of persecution?

A—Yes. This is the way paranoia, a severe mental disease, starts. Your friend needs psychiatric help.

As a nickname for the devil, "Old Scratch" comes from the old Norse word "scratti," meaning "devil" or "sorcerer."
